

Kennedy Approves New Postal Rates, Salary Increases

Praises Bill as Helping Service and Its Employees

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today signed a bill raising postage rates, and boosting salaries for more than a million federal employees.

Kennedy hailed it as an important step toward putting the postal system on a self-sustaining basis and making federal jobs more attractive.

Among the changes: First class mail will cost five cents, air mail eight cents beginning next Jan. 7.

With legislators who worked on the bill and representatives of postal unions watching, Kennedy put his signature to the legislation in his White House office as the first item on his day's schedule.

Kennedy, reading from a statement, said the new postal rates would bring in additional annual revenue amounting to $600 million.

"Broad Reform"

The new law provides "broad reform" and flexibility in postal system salaries and puts them at a level which would help to prevent large-scale "attrition to private industry," he said.

Kennedy said the salary increases would help attract more capable people into federal employment and contribute to better productivity.

The legislative package signed into law combines two of Kennedy's major legislative proposals—pay increases and salary reform for 1.6 million federal workers, and new revenue to help run the deficit-ridden postal service.

The pay section of the bill calls for two-step raises averaging 9.5 per cent for 1 million "white collar" workers, and 11.2 per cent for 600,000 postal clerks and letter carriers.

$1.05 Billion Cost

The first step goes into effect next payday, the second step on Jan. 1, 1964. Cost of the increase will be $1.05 billion.

The new postal rates—chiefly a one-cent increase in first-class and airmail stamps, with smaller increases for second and third class users—are intended to bring in $600 million in new revenue after three years.

The new first class and air mail rates begin Jan. 7, 1963, but most of the second and third class increases are spread over three years, starting in January.

Of the $600 million in new revenue, $100 million will be used to pay for the cost of the new rates.

Yemeni Leader Talks of War

Says Revolutionary Regime in Conflict With Saudi Arabia

CAIRO (AP)—The deputy premier of the Yemeni rebel regime was quoted today as saying Yemen considers itself "in a state of war with Saudi Arabia" but his words were received with reserve here.

Shortly before the report came out of Yemen, the government of the United Arab Republic pledged all its resources to resist any attack on the rebel regime. It accused Saudi Arabia and Jordan of aggression on Yemen's northern frontier.

The statement by Yemeni Deputy Premier Abdul Rahman Baydany was carried by the U.A.R. news agency, but there was nothing to indicate he was speaking officially.

Troops at Frontier

In a dispatch from the Yemeni capital of Sana, the agency quoted Baydany as saying Saudi Arabia had massed troops on the border and had slipped arms into Yemen. He said such acts were considered an attack on the rebel regime.

"This leads the Yemen government to consider itself in a state of war with Saudi Arabia," Baydany added.

Saudi Arabia has denied charges from Sana and Cairo that its troops have crossed into Yemen.

The U.A.R. pledge of support to what the rebels call an Islamic Socialist republic in Yemen was announced by Prime Minister Ali Sabry for a meeting of the presidency council. President Nasser presided.

Mississippi Council To Hear 6 Students Accused of Rioting

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—The powerful University of Mississippi student judicial council meets today to map procedures for a hearing for six students who face charges in connection with rioting last week when James H. Meredith entered the university.

Each student will have a private hearing before the council. Since it was established in 1951, only one decision has been reversed.

Possible penalties include expulsion, suspension for no less than one semester, suspension with suspended sentence, and probation. No names will be released unless a student is expelled.

Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the six were not charged under the federal code.

A meeting of the 27-member faculty senate was expected to consider two resolutions on the demonstrations and college unity.

Greatest Assembly of Prelates in History Hears Pontiff in St. Peter's

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII today opened the second Vatican Ecumenical Council the past he has made clear that—Roman Catholicism's greatest assembly of prelates in history—through the return of "separated with an appeal for Christian brothers" to the Roman Catholic unity.

The 80-year-old pontiff, in an address before some 2,500 council delegates in St. Peter's Basilica, said progress had already been gathered around Pope John XXIII made toward unity. He spoke specifically of a unity of prayers and aspirations and a unity of esteem and respect.

"Unfortunately," the Pope said, "the entire Christian family has not yet fully attained... unity in truth."

"The Catholic Church, therefore, considers it her duty to work actively so that there may be fulfilled the great mystery of that unity, which Jesus Christ invoked with fervent prayer from His Heavenly Father on the eve of His sacrifice."

Catholics United

"She (the church) rejoices in peace, knowing that she is intimately associated with that prayer, and then exults greatly at seeing that invocation extend its efficiency with salutary fruit even among those who are outside her fold."

"Indeed, if one considers well this same unity which Christ implored for His church it seems to shine with a triple ray of beneficent supernatural light: namely, the unity of Catholics among themselves, which must always be kept exemplary and most firm; the unity of prayers and ardent desires with which those Christians separated from the apostolic see, aspire to be united with us; and the unity in esteem and respect for the Catholic Church, which animates those who follow non-Catholic religions."

Method Not Outlined

He said the Ecumenical Council "prepares, as it were, and consolidates the path toward that unity of mankind."

The Pope gave no direct indication of how he thought future unity might be achieved. But in the past he has made clear that he considers the way to unity is through the return of "separated with an appeal for Christian brothers" to the Roman Catholic unity.

Truman Proposes Lottery to Pay Off National Debt

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman is advocating a national lottery to pay off the national debt.

"When the federal government gets behind it and everyone knows it's absolutely fair, it isn't gambling," he told a news conference yesterday.

Truman is in Las Vegas to address the national convention of the American Legion today.

The former president referred to the Mexican government lottery as an example of a government-controlled drawing that almost "runs their government."

Besides, he added, people lose very little money in a lottery as compared with gaming in gambling casinos. And everyone likes to place a little bet once in a while, he added.

Cuba-Bound Ships Targets Of Exile Group

NEW YORK (AP)—A Cuban exile group which calls itself Alpha 66 announced it is declaring war, effective today, on all ships carrying supplies to Cuba.

The announcement was made by Antonio Veciana, 35-year-old leader of the group which says it carried out a raid on Cuba's north coast Monday. He is a certified public accountant in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Veciana made the statement in a broadcast from San Juan for the American Broadcasting Co.

He said attacks will be carried out on any and all vessels, not just those from Iron Curtain countries.

Russians Included

Veciana gave ABC some details on Monday's reported raid on the Cuban port of Isabella de Sagua, 150 miles east of Havana.

He said his force of 30 men inflicted 20 casualties on what he termed "the enemy." Veciana said the casualties included both Russians and Cubans.

His force, said Veciana, suffered five casualties.

3 Persons Missing On Lake Michigan

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—Two architects and the wife of one of them have failed to return from a nighttime sail on Lake Michigan.

The missing persons are Eugene Schad of Waukegan and Howard West and his wife, Alvin, of Lake Bluff.

Coast Guardsmen from Kenosha, Wis., and Wilmette, Ill., joined in the search.

The architects, partners in a firm in Waukegan, and Mrs. West set out Wednesday night from the Waukegan Harbor in an 18-foot sailboat.

They left word that they would be back at 9 p.m. but had not returned by 8 a.m. today.

The dinghy they used to reach the yacht still was in the harbor and their automobiles still were parked at the Waukegan Yacht Club.

Fight to Adjourn Continues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic leaders struggled to bring the 87th Congress to a close today but conceded that Friday night was a more likely target for adjournment.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, said he had not entirely abandoned hope for closing shop tonight but that the hope was a dim one.

School Prayers Topic at Legion National Session

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—American Legionnaires entered the final day of their annual convention today with two spirited fights in view—school prayers and the commander's election.

The school prayer issue popped up Wednesday when a resolutions committee suggested asking Congress for a constitutional amendment allowing prayers in public schools.

When a spirited battle broke out, Legionnaires tabled it until today. They said the less than one-third representation of the 3,015 eligible voting delegates was insufficient.

The resolution would ask Congress to "enable spoken prayer of a free and voluntary nature to be said in any and every location and place, including public schools, where citizens of the United States may gather."

Rabbi Robert I. Kahn of Houston, Tex., former national chaplain of the Legion, warned the delegates they were "playing with fire."

The national commander's election between James Powers of Macon, Ga., and Joseph Matthews of Fort Worth, Tex., looms as the closest in 14 years in the 3-million-member Legion.

'Vital New Weapon'

Kennedy Signs Trade Expansion Bill, Link With Common Market

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed the trade expansion bill today and put into the economic arsenal what he called "a vital new weapon" for the cause of freedom.

The bill gives the president unprecedented power to cut or eliminate tariffs on many items and to cooperate with the booming Common Market in Europe.

New Era of Growth

Kennedy predicted that the legislation can bring "a dynamic new era of growth."

Together, the United States and the Common Market represent "the greatest aggregation of economic power in the world," Kennedy said, adding that now they will have an opportunity to work together in maintaining this pre-eminence.

Administration leaders hailed the bill as the crowning legislative achievement of Kennedy's first two years in the White House.

'Vital New Weapon'

Kennedy Signs Trade Expansion Bill, Link With Common Market

The new trade program received strong support from both parties and from leaders of business and organized labor.

Opposition from protectionist groups was not as harsh as had been predicted, since the measure provides help for industries and workers when imports cause loss of business and jobs.

The administration was unable to block a provision that would restrict trade with Poland and Yugoslavia. But otherwise, Congress gave Kennedy almost exactly what he requested, plus additional authority to counter unjustifiable import barriers erected by other countries against American products.

The special authority to work out economic arrangements with the Common Market is regarded by the administration as the heart of the bill.

The booming six-nation area is looked upon as a potential vast new market for sales of American consumer goods and farm surpluses.

The six nations in the market are West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Great Britain is negotiating to become a member.

The bill extends for five years, to June 30, 1967, the 28-year-old reciprocal trade agreements law initiated by Secretary of State Cordell Hull in Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term.

It gives the President authority in negotiating new trade pacts to cut all U.S. tariffs by 50 per cent.

In addition, he may negotiate for the complete elimination of duties on items for which the United States and the Common Market account for 80 per cent of world trade.

Help for American industries and workers is designed to permit, in addition, to those harmed by imports when industry wide relief is possible under the old law is held to be unjustified.

Traffic Crashes Take 2 More Lives

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The deaths of two persons as the result of separate accidents, one of them last month, have raised Wisconsin's 1962 traffic toll to 710, compared with 682 on this date last year.

John Heben, 65, of Dodgeville, died Wednesday in a hospital of injuries received in a car-truck collision on Highway 14 near Richland Center last Saturday.

Washington County authorities told Wednesday of the death of Mrs. Charlene Rosenheimer, 40, of Kewaskum, the mother of four small children. She was the second victim of a two-car crash at a rural intersection near Kewaskum Sept. 28. William Lueke, 63, West Bend, driver of the other car, died two days after the collision.

Kennedy Signs Pension Bill as Peace Gesture

Solons Say Act Pacified Doctors Opposed to Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's action in signing a self-employed pension bill was widely interpreted today as a peace gesture to the doctors who opposed his program of health care for the elderly.

Kennedy has been depicted as reluctant to let the measure become law. It permits self-employed persons such as doctors and lawyers to set up tax-exempt pension plans for themselves and their employees.

The fact that the President wasn't very pleased with the bill seemed to be substantiated by his silence in signing it. The usual White House statement and ceremonies which accompany such actions were conspicuously missing.

Reports of the President's reluctance were so widespread that Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., sponsor of the bill, contributed his efforts toward keeping Congress in session so the measure could be pocket vetoed.

When Congress is meeting, a bill becomes law without the President's signature if he does not sign or veto it in 10 days. If Congress is in adjournment, a President can kill a measure simply by not acting on it in 10 days. Midnight last night was the 10-day deadline for the self-employed bill.

Kennedy has been represented as being angry at the doctors who opposed the campaign that ended in Senate defeat of his proposal to finance health care for those over 65 through social security taxes.

He also obviously doesn't like the $115-million bite the self-employed pension plan will make in yearly Treasury revenues. But sponsors of the measure had argued with him that giving the doctors something most of them want might help ease their opposition to his general program, if not to the health care item.

And he was reminded that a lot of lawyers, farmers, barbers and small business men are self-employed and would like to have a tax break which would help them lay away something for a rainy day.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, one of the chief sponsors of the bill, said he thought Kennedy was caught in a set of circumstances in which he couldn't afford to veto the bill.

The trouble was that while he was a senator, President Kennedy did make the statement that the bill had merit and that it should be enacted into law," Dirksen said.

The Republican leader said he thinks its passage will be cheered by a substantial number of voters. He said he figures its terms will affect about 19 million persons.

McCormack's Support Goes To Kennedy

Bitterness Present During Democratic 'Unity Meeting'

Chicago Daily News Service
BOSTON — Eddie McCormack turned over his troops to Teddy Kennedy Wednesday night. The affair was billed as a unity meeting of Massachusetts Democrats. But it had the emotional undertones of a foreclosure proceeding.

McCormack, nephew of the Speaker of the House, was trounced 2 to 1 for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate three weeks ago by Teddy, brother of the President. Although McCormack and Kennedy both conducted themselves like good Democrats at the unity rally, there are strong traces of personal bitterness still detectable from the pre-primary fight between the Uptown Irish and the Downtown Irish in Boston.

With a gallantry not apparent to his friends in private conversation, McCormack introduced Kennedy in a meeting of his own "coordinators" with a plea that they support the man who won the primary.

"Warmth, Kindness"
"People have asked me, 'Are you going to support Ted Kennedy?'" the defeated McCormack said, "and my answer has been, 'Is he not the Democratic nominee for the United States Senate?' I urge you all to support Ted Kennedy."

Kennedy showed the warmth and kindness of a gentle winner. "If the shoe had been on the other foot," he said, "We would be having a similar meeting of Kennedy workers to support McCormack."

The turnout for the unity meeting filled the Statler Hotel ballroom, and caused great satisfaction among Kennedy workers. But as the brief rally terminated, a middle-aged woman in a blue coat standing near the door raised some question as to whether the Kennedy organization had infiltrated the meeting. "It's sickening," said this woman with the venom one usually sees only on election night at a losing candidate's headquarters. "There's as many Kennedy people here as there are McCormack people. If I had known this, I wouldn't have wasted my time."

marked by major innovations. Pope John increased the College of Cardinals to its greatest size in history. He visited Rome's jails. He walked the Roman streets. He made a whistle-stop train tour of Italy unique in modern papal history. He sometimes used the pronoun "I" instead of the formal "We" which Popes traditionally use. He often joked. Some newspapers have called John XXIII "Jovial John" because of his warm ways and quick humor. They remembered that the Bergamaschi, from the province of Bergamo where Pope was born, are noted for their joviality and amiable ways. They may have overlooked that the Bergamaschi also are noted as hard-headed and determined.

That reign has already been presiding. "Humble Pope"

The North Western Road Settlement

George E. Leightly, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, says he does not like the decision of the board of arbitration on the four questions submitted to it in the telegraphers' strike against the North Western Railway Company. The decision of the board supported substantially the report of the special fact finding commission which President Kennedy had set up earlier in the year. The telegraphers struck against the decision of the fact finding board and had tied up the North Western system that serves nine states in the Midwest for 30 days before agreeing to submit questions to arbitration at the request of President Kennedy.

Since the union, represented by Leightly, and the company, represented by Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the North Western board, were in disagreement over the principal issues, the final decision was that of Sylvester Garrett, the neutral arbitrator appointed by President Kennedy.

Leightly after reviewing the decision, said, "This is another illustration of the unfortunate results when government officials intervene in railroad labor disputes outside the normal channel of the Railway Labor Act."

While the decision is binding on both parties, the union has indicated that it will continue to fight for its original position, using state labor boards where possible. The telegraphers have legal right of course to carry their fight to any length they see fit. Nevertheless, the issues of the strike have been before the public for nearly five years. After intensive study, the President's special commission of investigation brought in a report which was generally acceptable to the railroad management and has now been largely confirmed by the decision of the board of arbitration.

In essence the decision holds that management has the right to decide what employees are necessary to the operation of the road and how many extra employees shall be hired. The attempt of the unions to claim the right to maintain jobs even when ruled unnecessary by management was the chief factor in contention.

As Chairman Heineman expressed it, the ruling "preserves the right to management to modernize and improve its railroad. There is no union veto over modernization and no artificial or third party intervention to review management's decisions."

This appears to be the fact in spite of a provision that management must give the union 90 days' notice before abolishing jobs and must consult with the union. The railroad has accepted that provision in good part probably because it was extended by a further provision that ultimately, however, the decision would rest finally with railroad management.

The decision is considered important even as it applies to the North Western Railway but may be more important if it finally applies to all railroads in the United States. It would appear that if one railroad has a right to decide when jobs may be abolished all railroads have that right and further if it applies to telegraphers it must also apply eventually to all railroad employees. If that proves to be the case it is truly a decision of national importance. While disagreeing with the decision, Robert Lowry, assistant to President Leightly, claimed that the union had gained more than 50 per cent of what it asked for. The biggest gain, he said, was the arbitration of the board's ruling that the railroad must give 90 days' notice before abolishing a job instead of five days. Other gains, he said, were the guarantee of a 40-hour work week for extra employees with provision for compensation for those dismissed. It might be suggested to Mr. Lowry that when one side gains 50 per cent of its goal in a case that goes to arbitration it is doing pretty well.

However, all benefits to the railway employees are probably not apparent in the specific gains awarded. The decision is regarded by railroad management as one that will permit the railroad to develop through modernization and thus may become an economically powerful organization again. If that proves true, of course, everyone will benefit including management of the railroad, the public served and last, but by no means least, the employees of the company.

Financing the University

Fred H. Harrington, the new president of the University of Wisconsin, has indicated that one of his first objectives will be to develop additional non-tax sources of income for his burgeoning institution. Assuming command of the principal state educational service at a time of its greatest challenge, Dr. Harrington here shows a certain grasp of the political realities with which he will be required to deal during the early years of his presidency, at the least.

The projected enrollments at state-supported institutions of higher learning during the rest of this decade are so big and will rise so rapidly until 1970 that the fiscal implications are sobering, even among those who wish the University well and are prepared for maximum taxing effort to sustain its actual educational quality as well as its prestige among the great educational centers of the country.

Even if the state relaxes some of its ancient prejudices against broadening of its tax base—and that is not yet certain—there must be some doubt about the capacity of the state treasury to support the University's claims upon it as well as the scores of others of rapidly increasing weight that are the price of modern life and modern conceptions of necessary public service.

If the state electorate decides, as in the November elections for governor that will in effect be a referendum on the topic, that it doesn't want a change in the state taxing structure, then the prospects for the University and its branches and other growing state agencies will be bleak indeed.

Dr. Harrington has not elaborated his plans for outside income. But the list of such possibilities is reasonably obvious. Wisconsin has been fastidious in the past about gifts and grants. It may be that we will be forced to reappraise our policies here. This state's university, as we judge it, has not been the beneficiary of grants from the vast national government research agencies to the extent that some of its sister universities across the land have benefitted. Some of the national foundations might be sources of additional income for services not strictly associated with the classroom and laboratory instruction of our sons and daughters.

Perhaps most interesting in this context, however, is the disclosure that Dr. Harrington is aware of the climate of budgeting and finance in which he must work as the university's chief leader, and that he is thinking not only of this budget biennium, but of future years. It may very well be that in a future time the new President will be judged not so much on his academic achievements as on his skill in managing the sustenance of the school that has been given into his charge during a period of financing problems of greater depth than many of his public service associates at Madison evidently care to acknowledge.

Opportunities for Negro Children

People take their stands for or against proposals not on the facts but on what they believe the facts to be. Thus today it is important to know what the people of the South as well as those of the North believe the facts to be with respect to the educational opportunities of colored people.

The recent Gallup poll indicates that there are sharp differences of opinion on this matter. A great majority of the white people in the South believe that the Negro children in their communities have the same opportunities as the white people. Needless to say this is disputed by a great many Southern Negroes. At the same time Northern Negroes tend to believe that Negro children in the North have the same opportunity as the white children. It is, no doubt, this basic difference of opinion which is at the root of the trouble in Mississippi today. In order to find out how people stood on this question the Gallup poll recently put this question to various groups in the North and the South:

"Do you think the Negro children in your community have the same opportunities as white children to get a good education, or not?"

Southern whites totaling 86 per cent of those interviewed said "Yes" to that question. Only seven per cent said "No" and another seven per cent was undecided. The Northern whites to the extent of 80 per cent gave an affirmative reply to the question. Three per cent said "No" and 17 per cent were undecided.

In the South about six out of ten Negroes who were interviewed said they did not feel the children had the same opportunities as the whites. About the same proportion of Northern Negroes stated that they felt equal opportunities were given to Negro children in the North.

The whole question of course is one of equal rights. But it is not a matter of granting privileges. It is a matter of acknowledging rights. Thus no matter how well the colored people may be treated in the South they will not be satisfied unless they can claim equal education as a right. But perhaps the most important thing of all is that they actually do receive equal education opportunities for upon this will depend the future peace in the Southern states.

Armed Build-Up in Cuba Defensive In Nature, U. S. Intelligence Shows

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

On the question of going to war over Cuba (by blockade or invasion) we now have available a summary of the intelligence findings on which the Administration is acting. These facts explain the President's decision to confine himself at this time to measures which are short of war.

The facts were put on the record last Wednesday, Oct. 3, before the House Select Committee on Export Control by Mr. George Ball, the Undersecretary of State.

This intelligence estimate is based on an elaborate system of surveillance by sea, by air, and by land, and there is every reason to think that its accuracy is very high. For Cuba is an island easily within reach of the Navy and Air Force, and with modern apparatus of electronic and photographic intelligence, little of military interest can happen without our knowing it. We do not have to guess about what is being landed at the Cuban ports or about what is being constructed on Cuban territory. We know. And anyone who chooses to question the basis of our present policy must begin by proving that the intelligence estimates are wrong.

So I shall quote in full Mr. Ball's testimony on the crucial question of the Cuban military buildup:

"Since July, when the volume of Soviet military shipments to Cuba suddenly vaulted upward, 85 shiploads arrived in Cuban ports. Many of them carried military items, supplies, and personnel. These shipments have consisted, in part, of types of weapons previously delivered to the Cuban armed forces, including more tanks, self-propelled guns, and other ground force equipment. The major tonnage in recent shipments, however, has been devoted to SA-2, surface-to-air missiles (SAMs)—together with all the related gear and equipment necessary for their installation and operation. To date, 15 SAM sites have been established in the island. We estimate that total may eventually reach 25. These are anti-aircraft missiles having a slant range of 20 to 25 miles.

"In addition, three and possibly four missile sites of a different type have been identified. These sites are similar to known Soviet coastal defense missile sites that are believed to accommodate a anti-shiping missiles with a range of 20-35 miles. Quite likely several more such sites will be installed.

"Cuba now is estimated to have 60 older-type MIG jet aircraft. In addition, at least one advanced jet interceptor has recently been received, and probably several more are in the process of assembly. This type of advanced jet-interceptor is usually equipped with infra-red air-to-air missiles. We estimate that the total of these advanced interceptors in Cuba may eventually reach 25 to 30.

"In addition, 16 'Komar'-class guided-missile patrol boats, which carry two short-range (11-17 miles), were included in recent shipments.

"About 4,500 Soviet military specialists have arrived, including construction men and technicians."

The military buildup, in short, consists of weapons for the army, anti-aircraft missiles, coastal defense weapons, some short-range patrol boats, a few fighter-interceptors, and some 4,500 Soviet specialists, technicians, and construction men. What is it all for? To attack the United States? Obviously not. The United States, using only conventional weapons, could dispose of Cuba in a few hours. Is the buildup to invade a Latin American neighbor? Conceivably, but only if Castro were prepared for the enormous punishment that would follow. It is obvious, I submit, that Castro is being armed against a re-run of the raid on the Bay of Pigs in April, 1961. Tanks, coastal defenses, patrol boats, and anti-aircraft equipment would be just exactly what he would need to repel another landing of Cuban exiles.

The present Cuban military buildup is not only not capable of offensive action, but also it is not capable of defensive action against the United States.

What then is Mr. Khrushchev up to in Cuba? Secondly, perhaps, he is baiting a trap for us which, if we fall into it, would throw the whole Western alliance into confusion and disorder just at the time when a Berlin crisis is developing.

But, originally, Mr. Khrushchev is in Cuba because he has talked so loudly about helping revolutions. Castro has thrown himself into Khrushchev's arms, and is blackmailing him. The Castro regime has made itself the prime and public test of whether international communism is a real force or a lot of words. Unless Castro can be made to succeed in Cuba, the revolutionary propaganda among the backward countries in the rest of the world will be greatly weakened.

So Mr. Khrushchev, despite what was undoubtedly much reluctance, is entangled in the fortunes of Fidel Castro. He must pour into Cuba oil and machinery, raw materials and food, and technicians and know-how, and money in order to demonstrate that communism can do better and faster in Cuba what the United States and Alliance for Progress are trying slowly, but by peaceable means, to do elsewhere in Latin America.

This is the core of the Soviet-Cuban alliance. Mr. Ball described the Soviet intervention in Cuba as an effort "to establish a beachhead for subversion in this hemisphere." This would mean that Cuban facilities and Cuban connections with other countries in Latin America would be used to infiltrate agents and propaganda and small arms and money. All of

Idea of Consolidating Counties Is Just Talk; Action Is Impossible

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Politicians and editorial writers share some characteristics, especially on safe themes. One of them turned up in a fruitless discussion the other day of the Legislative Council committee studying economy and efficiency in government and how to attain them.

Why don't we consolidate some of the counties, demanded one member during a lull? Why don't we force some of the rural towns to consolidate, wondered another?

Well, why don't we? Quite obviously if the local governmental arrangements of Wisconsin were to be set up for the first time this year, they would be vastly different from those that were inherited from the 19th century, with its radically different conditions, problems, and political tastes. Almost surely there would be fewer than 72 counties. It is a fair wager that an independent local government would not be set up to handle the affairs of a small handful of inhabitants, as there are towns in some of the sparsely settled counties in Wisconsin today that have fewer residents than occupy a single apartment house in the capital city of Madison.

WHY

It is one thing to indulge in such pontifical and idle speculation on a quiet day in a state-house hearing room. It is quite another to pass the laws needed for such change.

It is perfectly plain to anyone who has any awareness of rural life and the institutional politics of localities, on the one hand, and the responsiveness of individual legislators to the attitudes of their home folks on the other, this will work only if in Cuba there is a showpiece of successful Communism. It will not work if the agents come from a land that is in misery and disorder.

It follows that as long as there is no direct military aggression by Cuba, as long as we are limiting ourselves to measures short of war, one of the best responses is to force the Soviet Union and the Soviet bloc to carry the whole burden of Cuban reconstruction. That is the intent of the shipping measures now being formulated. They will not destroy the Castro regime now. But they will make it much more expensive and inconvenient for the Soviet Union to make Castro succeed.

Ben Hanneman, the early lobbyist for the Wisconsin Towns Association, put it in a nutshell when he was asked to comment the other day.

"We like it as it is, and we don't think anybody should butt into what is really our business," he rumbled.

that any legislation that would tamper seriously with the political geography of the state wouldn't get a handful of votes in either house of the state legislature.

The favorite examples of the casual conversationalists here are Forest and Florence counties, very small counties in the far northeastern part of the state. Ideally, it may be supposed, they should be joined, with some monetary savings resulting.

But where would the courthouse be? Would local residents be content to take a longer trip to file a deed, or to pay taxes, or to visit the highway commissioner or the relief office? Would the local political parties which prize the rosters of county court house candidates in each district willingly forfeit half of that campaign manpower? Would either set of office-holders cheer about a plan that would deprive one or the other of them of their livelihoods? The institutional and community pride pressures in such situations are enormous.

REVERSE

The idea of fewer counties has been preached in Wisconsin since the emergence of the industrialization and urbanization trends in this state more than 30 years ago. Yet only two years ago the legislature had a chance to attach the unincorporated Indian territory of the Menomonees to a neighboring county, for administrative service purposes, when the national government terminated its supervision over the tribe and its affairs.

But no adjacent county welcomed the prospect of taking over the Indian population, with its public service and taxing liabilities so plainly in view. The legislature chose not to force the issue. It set up a new county, one of the smallest in the state with about 3,000 residents, which is less than are counted in most of the city voting precincts of Wisconsin.

All this is not to say that there is not some value in the idea of simplifying for the second half of the 20th century local governmental arrangements that were devised a century or more ago for altogether different circumstances. In many localities the town is an anachronism, as in the typical suburb. But here the basic question is the state's policy under the annexation laws, and the city's rights thereunder.

Ben Hanneman, the early lobbyist for the Wisconsin Towns Association, put it in a nutshell when he was asked to comment the other day.

"We like it as it is, and we don't think anybody should butt into what is really our business," he rumbled.

Jackson Confides in Prisoner

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Oct. 16, 1862.

Capt. C. N. Goulding, Gen. Pope's Chief Quartermaster who was taken prisoner upon the occasion of Stuart's raid at Catlett's station, has just returned from Richmond.

He says that Jackson told him that during the entire war he had never been so hard pressed as he was by Fremont in the Shenandoah Valley, that he never was in such a dangerous position as at Cross Keys and Port Republic.

Jackson freely admitted that he would have been captured, bag and baggage, had Fremont been reinforced or supported by McDowell.

District Highway Engineer Outlines Plans for U. S. 41

OSHKOSH — Plans for development of a closed U.S. 41 between State 110 and U.S. 45 around Oshkosh were outlined to the common council, Wednesday night by Leroy Empey, Green Bay district highway engineer.

When all frontage roads are completed, motorists will be able to enter and leave U.S. 41 only at State 100, County Trunk Y and U.S. 45 in that area. The intersection at County Trunk J would be closed, according to maps presented by Empey.

The council will be asked to adopt the system as part of the official city map after a public hearing next Wednesday.

He said that where the highway is not protected by frontage roads the city builds up around the highway and the road is eventually moved. Green Bay is a good example of this, he said.

Oshkosh restaurant owner Mike Goerlitz, who announced plans to build a restaurant, motel and service station on the southeast corner of State 110 and U.S. 41, protested that the proposed frontage road would leave him without access to U.S. 41 near his business.

Empey said the right of way for the frontage road has already been purchased and he did not think the limited access would harm the type of business plan at State 100, County Trunk Y and U.S. 45 in that area.

He said present plans call for extension of the four lane highway to De Pere by 1965 and around Green Bay by about 1972.

About one-third of the district's annual highway budget goes into U.S. 41, he said.

Empey also noted right of ways have been purchased for interchanges at College Avenue and at Spencer Street in Appleton and — "they were quite expensive."

Parents, Teachers To Have Conference

HORTONVILLE — Students will be dismissed for the entire day Friday at the Hortonville Elementary School to give parents and teachers a chance for conferences.

Eugene Riedl, principal, has announced Only kindergarten children will have school as usual.

Conferences will be on a 20-minute schedule from 8 to 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. "This first conference is being planned early in the year to enable the parents to become acquainted with their child's teacher, to plan and work together on any problems or difficulties which may have arisen and to give each the opportunity to share information," Riedl said.

Decision Making, Problem Analysis Reviewed by SAM

Problem analysis and decision making were discussed today at a seminar conducted by the Fox Valley Chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management. Conducting the program was Dr. Benjamin B. Tregoe Jr., of Kerner, Tregoe and Associates, Princeton, N. J.

The sessions, held at the Appleton Elks Club, dealt with defining and analyzing problems. Decision making, the speaker pointed out, could be arrived at only after a definition and an analysis of the problem was completed.

Democrats Name County Officers

OSHKOSH — Edward Weber, Town of Black Wolf, was elected county statutory committee chairman for the Democratic party Wednesday night at a meeting at the Rauli Hotel. William Manske, Oshkosh, was named vice chairman and Mrs. Ellen Hanson, Menasha, secretary-treasurer.

Weber, chairman of the county party's voluntary organization, succeeds Morton Gazerwitz who has held the statutory committee chairmanship for eight years and who declined another term because of frequent absences on business.

Gazerwitz was named chairman of the Oshkosh committee and teacher, to plan and work together on any problems or difficulties which may have arisen and to give each the opportunity to share information," Riedl said. Herbert Pitz, candidates chairman, urged a full attendance at the dinner at the Neenah Eagles Club Tuesday at which Patrick Lucey, state Democratic party chairman, will speak. Funds raised at this dinner will be used to put on two county rallies prior to the election.

'Alpha 66' Attack Hits Soviets in Cuba

Commando Raiders Killed Over 20 Troops Guarding Rail Station

BY AL BURT
Chicago Daily News Service

MIAMI — Alpha 66 struck right at the heart of the Russians in Cuba with the attack they claimed to have made on the north coast port of Isabela de Sagua this week.

The area, Central Cuba's Las Villas Province, has one of the major concentrations of Soviet technicians and also one of the strongest underground movements.

Alpha 66, a Cuban exile group dedicated to a military plan to overthrow Fidel Castro, calculated it as a move to make the Soviets nervous and to encourage internal resistance.

Psychological Value
"You cannot overestimate the psychological value of something like this to men who are fighting in Cuba. Now they know there are people outside who are helping. They will fight harder," an Alpha spokesman said.

The raid took place just after midnight Monday. A commando team of some 20-25 men came in from the sea and dynamited a railroad station and military warehouse guarded by the Soviets. Twenty "of the enemy" were reported killed.

Information on the raid came from Alpha 66 itself, and there was no confirmation from Cuban officials.

No Raiders Killed
The report said the operation took about two hours, and the raiders withdrew with injuries but no fatalities.

Isabela is about six miles from Sagua la Grande, a city of 50,000 that has sugar mills, a foundry formerly used to make refinery parts and a chemical plant.

The railroad station that Alpha claims it destroyed linked Sagua la Grande with the port.

This was the second Alpha 66 attack against Cuba. The first came Sept. 10 about 40 miles to the east of Isabela off Caibarien, the other major port in the province.

In it, a raiding boat attacked Cuban shipping — the British freighter Newlane, the Cuban freighter San Blas and the Cuban floating refrigeration warehouse San Pascual.

No Acknowledgment
Official Cuba did not acknowledge that attack until two days later.

Origin of the strike was not revealed, but it was not believed to have come from the U.S. mainland.

"We hope this does not affect the deal for the invasion prisoners," an Alpha man said. "And we do not think it will. Castro will always find an excuse to do whatever he wants."

However, the operation did cause new anxiety and confusion regarding the future of the 1,113 prisoners still in Cuba from the Bay of Pigs invasion of April, 1961.

British Women Can Expect Longer Lives
LONDON (AP)—British women can expect to live 5.8 years longer than men.

A report by the registrar general's office shows a boy's life expectancy at birth is 68.1 years, a girl's 73.9 years.

Men are more prone to women to most of the killer diseases, the report said, citing lung cancer and coronary disease especially.

Hundreds of Lights

Rich red velvets hung from the basilica walls, setting off the white robes and mitres of the bishops sitting in two tiers of seats flanking the main aisle.

The sweet smell of incense filled the basilica. In alcoves choirs sang hymns to the Virgin Mary. Hundreds of arc lights lit the basilica to noonday brightness.

Under the heat of the lights, many prelates wiped their brows.

Seated near the Pope's throne in a place of honor were observers from non-Catholic churches.

Tens of thousands of Romans, priests and tourists collected in the vast square before St. Peter's to watch the colorful procession that began the spectacular five-hour ceremony.

20 Earlier Councils
It was a rare show. Only 20 previous ecumenical councils have been held in the 2,000-year history of the church. The last was in 1870.

Pope John and his prelates have been preparing for the council for more than three years. Its deliberations may last a year.

Long before the procession started, the church's honored guests—observers from the non-Catholic churches and delegations sent by more than 80 governments—looked their places inside the basilica.

The observers came from the Anglican, Presbyterian, Lutheran, and other Protestant churches. None were here from Orthodox churches which rejected the Vatican's invitations.

Private Colleges in State Have Average Year's Tuition of $731
MADISON (AP)—The average yearly tuition and fees at the private colleges in Wisconsin for the 1961-62 academic year was $731, according to a study released Wednesday by the United States Office of Education.

The study said the same charges at Wisconsin's state colleges ranged from $198 to $220, college cost of these services was somewhat above the national average of $185 for state supported institutions.

The study showed average charges for dormitory rooms in state supported colleges were $189 and $380 for meals. The private colleges ranged from $234 to $256. Room rates at Wisconsin's state colleges ranged from $234 to $256, and board rates from $350 to $378.

in town in case Kennedy vetoed the pension measure.

However, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., did not withdraw his objection.

He is leading the Senate in another round of tug-of-war with the House over prestige. This round involves a $5 billion agriculture appropriations bill.

He has been insisting on funds for construction of a number of new agriculture research facilities which the House opposes.

Compromise Predicted

But Russell and the House manager of the bill, Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., did get together Wednesday for a long talk. Afterward, Democratic leaders said they were hopeful of a compromise but kept the details to themselves.

The Senate voted Wednesday to put Congress on record backing any action, including the use of military force, needed to uphold Western rights in Berlin. Passage of the Berlin resolution was by voice vote. The House had approved the resolution earlier.

Both branches sent to Kennedy on Wednesday a $2,025,895,700 appropriations measure to run the State, Justice and Commerce Departments.

This left four money bills to be acted on, including the supplemental and the farm measure.

Family of Slain Rural Shawano Man Ask Why He Was Killed

Post-Crescent News Service
MORGAN — You're the parents of 16 children. One boy is unaccounted for. You worry. Three weeks later your son's body is found in a copse of wood, 150 miles from home, his head riddled with six bullets. You can't understand it.

A rural Shawano County family now is going through a private anguish as authorities from three counties investigate the murder of Budrow Burr, 24, of Morgan, whose body was found in a Dodge County woods by two children last Saturday.

Louis Burr and his wife have raised a strong, healthy family on a 101 acre farm along the Red River, where the Town of Red Springs abuts on the Stockbridge Indian lands. Mrs. Burr is a Stockbridge Indian; Louis is a Stockbridge and white. Morgan is little more than an old railroad siding in northern Shawano County. The family is close. They had little else to do or no one to turn to but each other.

Now they turn to each other and ask: How? Why?

For 22 years Louis Burr drove school buses for the Gresham schools. Eight of his 10 sons also drove bus as soon as they were old enough. One of his six daughters, Mrs. June Coyhis, who still lives near home, also drove the bus for seven years. "The buses never had to be sent out for repairs," Louis Burr said. "We did the repair work right here."

Bud Drove a Bus
Bud Burr drove a bus at his funeral Oct. 9 a number of the children he had transported from their homes to school and back daily came to pay last respects.

Eight of the 10 boys were in military service, six of them at one time during World War II. Bud Burr served in Germany some years after the war was over. Robert 15, and Billy 16 still are not old enough for military service.

The other children are Germaine 18, Donna 20, Burdette 22, Louis Jr. 29, Sidney 31, Jerry and Jeannette, who are twins 34, Gordon 36, Boyd 37, June 39, Bernice 41, Leona 42 and Ralph 44. June Coyhis and Leona Bowman who live in the town of Red Springs, and Jeannette Christoperson who lives in Green Bay are married daughters. Donna works in Green Bay but lives at home.

Ralph and Gordon live in Shawano. Boyd and Louis in Appleton and Sidney in Nichols.

Last Seen Sept. 14
Three of the sons, Jerry, Burdette and Gordon work in their brother Ralph's body shop west of Shawano on Highway 29. Bud worked there too until he borrowed his brother Louis' car on Sept. 14, and left for Milwaukee looking for work. That was the last time his family saw him alive.

When Bud didn't come home and wasn't heard from in a week, his family worried. But he was an independent man, close to six feet in height and weighing about 200 pounds. "He could take care of himself," his father said. "He'd been in the army and around. Even with a gun it took more than one man to do this to Bud." Finally they phoned an aunt in Milwaukee. Bud had left

High Winds Halt Power In Appleton

A section of northeast Appleton was without electricity for about 45 minutes Wednesday. The interruption was caused by high winds which blew several branches from an elm tree across a 2,400-volt transmission line at 1700 N. Union St.

The shorted line activated automatic equipment at the N. Mead St. substation which stopped the power flow to the area. Power Company crews appeared on the scene at 12:45 p.m. and restored service by 1:30 p.m.

Wind also blew down a color television antenna on a home at 703 N. Morrison St.

The Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. reported that winds reached a maximum velocity of 48 miles an hour at 11:40 a.m. Wednesday.

Kuehn to Make Handshaking Tour Friday Night

Philip G. Kuehn, Republican candidate for governor, will campaign in downtown Appleton from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Friday, according to John Conway, chairman, Outagamie County Kuehn for Governor committee.

The informal handshaking tour will follow a seafood buffet and reception at the Conway Hotel.

An open meeting of the County Kuehn for Governor committee will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Conway Hotel.

Donald M. Hilde, 1207 W. Packard St., has been named chairman of the newly organized Outagamie County "Chiropractors for Kuehn" committee. Len J. used Authorities from Milwaukee, 215 N. Oneida St., and Lee Dodge and Shawano counties George and Leola Garriott, Horanville, are co-chairmen of the group.

one had seen him since. Within the ensuing two weeks until the body was found, the family made inquiries about tracing missing persons at the Outagamie and Shawano sheriff's departments. Louis Burr said They also phoned California on a chance that he may have gone to a welding school his brothers had attended there.

No Early Help

Louis Burr said the Shawano county sheriff's office explained to him that they could not put a call out over the state radio network when a car was involved in a missing person's case unless the car was stolen or some other charge made.

Looking back at it, Burr said, "This just doesn't seem right. But if that's the law, that's it. I don't think we could have saved the boy's life, but maybe we could have found him quicker." Delicate place and time of death still has not been announced.

"I wasn't going to say the boy stole the car. He hadn't. That would always be on his record. And if he found a job, it wouldn't look good for someone to walk in and arrest him just when he got started. None of my boys have had trouble with the law," he added.

County law enforcement officers confirmed that the Burr family is a "good family."

"A Good Family"

"They've had no serious brushes with the law," Sheriff Carl Krueger said. "They're a good family. Bud was the kind of guy who wouldn't take anything off anybody and he'd settle things for himself. We have a number of good leads were working on now."

The Burr family is Lutheran. But they treasure a letter from a Shawano Catholic priest who knows the family and knew Bud. He wrote a letter of condolence in which he pointed out Bud's willingness to lend a hand kindness with children and good nature. "He always had a smile," his older sister, June, remembers.

When the car which Bud had borrowed from Louis Jr. was found abandoned on a Milwaukee street, authorities swung into action. A description and missing persons tracer went out. But there was no sign, no trail leading to Bud until the two Dodge County youngsters stumbled across his body.

"They must be animals, who ever did this," older brother Ralph remarked. "Anyone of the shots would have killed him." Through Wednesday authorities still had not determined what kind or caliber of firearm was for Kuehn's committee. Len J. used Authorities from Milwaukee, 215 N. Oneida St., and Lee Dodge and Shawano counties George and Leola Garriott, Horanville, are co-chairmen of the group.

Profits Key to Employment, Students Told

33 Graduate From Vocational School
Management Course

The lower industrial profits are the higher unemployment is, C. L. Dostal, president of Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., told 33 graduates of the Appleton Vocational School's Management Institute course for foremen and supervisors Tuesday.

The graduates and their bosses were honored at a dinner at Alex's restaurant.

Profits of industry are used to purchase lands, buildings, and equipment for the purpose of creating jobs, Dostal told the group. In Wisconsin it takes an average investment of $18,000 to provide one job for an employee, he noted, while in the paper industry the amount rises to about $23,000.

People generally have an erroneous concept of what profits are, how they are used, and of the economic significance of profits, he said. Some industrial profits go as dividends to stockholders, he pointed out, but the major portion is used for investment in plants, technology and research.

The money used for research and development by creating new materials also creates jobs, he said.

Profits eventually reduce prices, Dostal stated. When profits are used, as they frequently are, for research and development and to increase efficiency and improve the competitive position of the plant, this eventually results in lower prices for the product.

Profits are an integral part of our system of free enterprise, he continued, and it is important to everyone that industry should have profits because they result in jobs, lower prices and new and better materials from which all benefit.

After each recession since 1950, the general profit level of industry has been lower, he noted.

The course in supervisory skills for foremen and supervisors was put on by the University of Wisconsin Management Institute and co-sponsored by the Appleton Vocational School and the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. A course for general foremen and superintendents is being planned to be given in April. This course will be on modern leadership techniques.

Feed Mill Burns at Ripon

Firemen Confine Flames to Tower;
Save Nearby Area

RIPON, Wis. (AP)—A roaring fire that sent columns of orange flame high into the sky destroyed a major portion of the Myron Grimm Feed Mill early today. There were no injuries.

The head of the volunteer fire department, Walter Trampf, who was appointed chief last Saturday, said the cause was undetermined but that the fire apparently started in an accumulation of feed and grain dust in the three-story tower section of the mill.

The tower section was reduced in about three hours to a mound of smoldering debris. Firemen were able to save an office on one side of the tower and a single-story packaging and storage area on the other.

The mill, covering about a half square block, was located about two blocks from the downtown square. The mill property is directly behind the site of the former Grandview Hotel, destroyed in a 1949 fire that took six lives.

Prevent Spread

Firemen prevented the flames from spreading to the bulk storage tanks of the adjoining Condon Oil Co. and a nearby lumber yard. A number of other small businesses are located in the area.

The fire was discovered at 12:32 a.m. by patrolling policemen who spotted flames in the building as they drove past.

The flames reached their peak about an hour later, completely engulfing the tower. The fire's glow could be seen from Fond du Lac, 20 miles away.

Meredith's Public Statement 'Unwise'

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — James H. Meredith, the Negro student now enrolled in the University of Mississippi, seems to have pulled a boner. He has undertaken by a public statement to tell the United States Army what troops it must use in affording him protection. He argues that there must be a substantial number of Negro soldiers on duty, or else he will consider it an injustice to him and to the nation.

Lawrence

Is a student in a university—whose discipline he accepts when he enrolls—privileged to call publicly for certain military forces to be deployed on the university grounds? Were those troops which had already been mobilized inadequate or inefficient? Or was the issuance of the statement itself a form of "political demonstration"?

Oddly enough, for a much less serious offense the University of Mississippi was threatened a few days ago with the loss of its accreditation. If this had happened every diploma issued would have been worthless as a certificate of admission to a professional or graduate school. The rules of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, with headquarters at Atlanta, Georgia, declare that accreditation can be taken away if, for instance, there is a violation of its principles. One of these says that "to keep education free from political manipulation is fundamental to the preservation of liberty."

Registrar's Problem

Officials of the association explain that they have nothing to do with the admission of or refusal to admit Negro students but that the particular point involved was the recent action of the governing board of the university in turning over to the governor of the state the functions of the university registrar. The registrar originally had declared that Meredith was not qualified for admission, but the U.S. Department of Justice asked the court to issue an order ignoring the registrar's findings. At this point, the university restored the registrar's functions, so there is no longer any accreditation problem.

The question that now arises is whether the university authorities will sanction "political manipulation" by any of its students. The attorney general of Mississippi could ask the federal court to uphold the university's right to discipline or dismiss Meredith, in the court order which requires For, though officially registered as a student, he issued a public statement which said in part:

"The first two days of my stay at the University of Mississippi the military units looked like American units. All soldiers held their positions and performed the task for which they had been trained and ordered to do. Since that time, the units have been re-segregated. Negroes have been purged from their positions in the ranks.

"On Thursday, Oct. 4, 1962, I brought this to the attention of the proper authorities. On Friday, I was informed that the situation would be corrected and the Negroes would be put back into their places in the ranks.

"Dishonored"

"On Monday, Oct. 8, 1962, Negro soldiers were indeed seen again among the soldiers. The ones I saw, however, were on a garbage-detail truck and unarmed. The white members of the detail were armed. This condition constitutes a dishonor and a disgrace to the hundreds of thousands of Negroes who wear the uniforms of our military services. "Negro soldiers were purged from the ranks 100 years ago in a somewhat similar situation. And today, 1962, this is an intolerable act. My conscience would not allow me to go on observing the situation without, at least, letting the Negro soldiers know that I did not like them being dishonored."

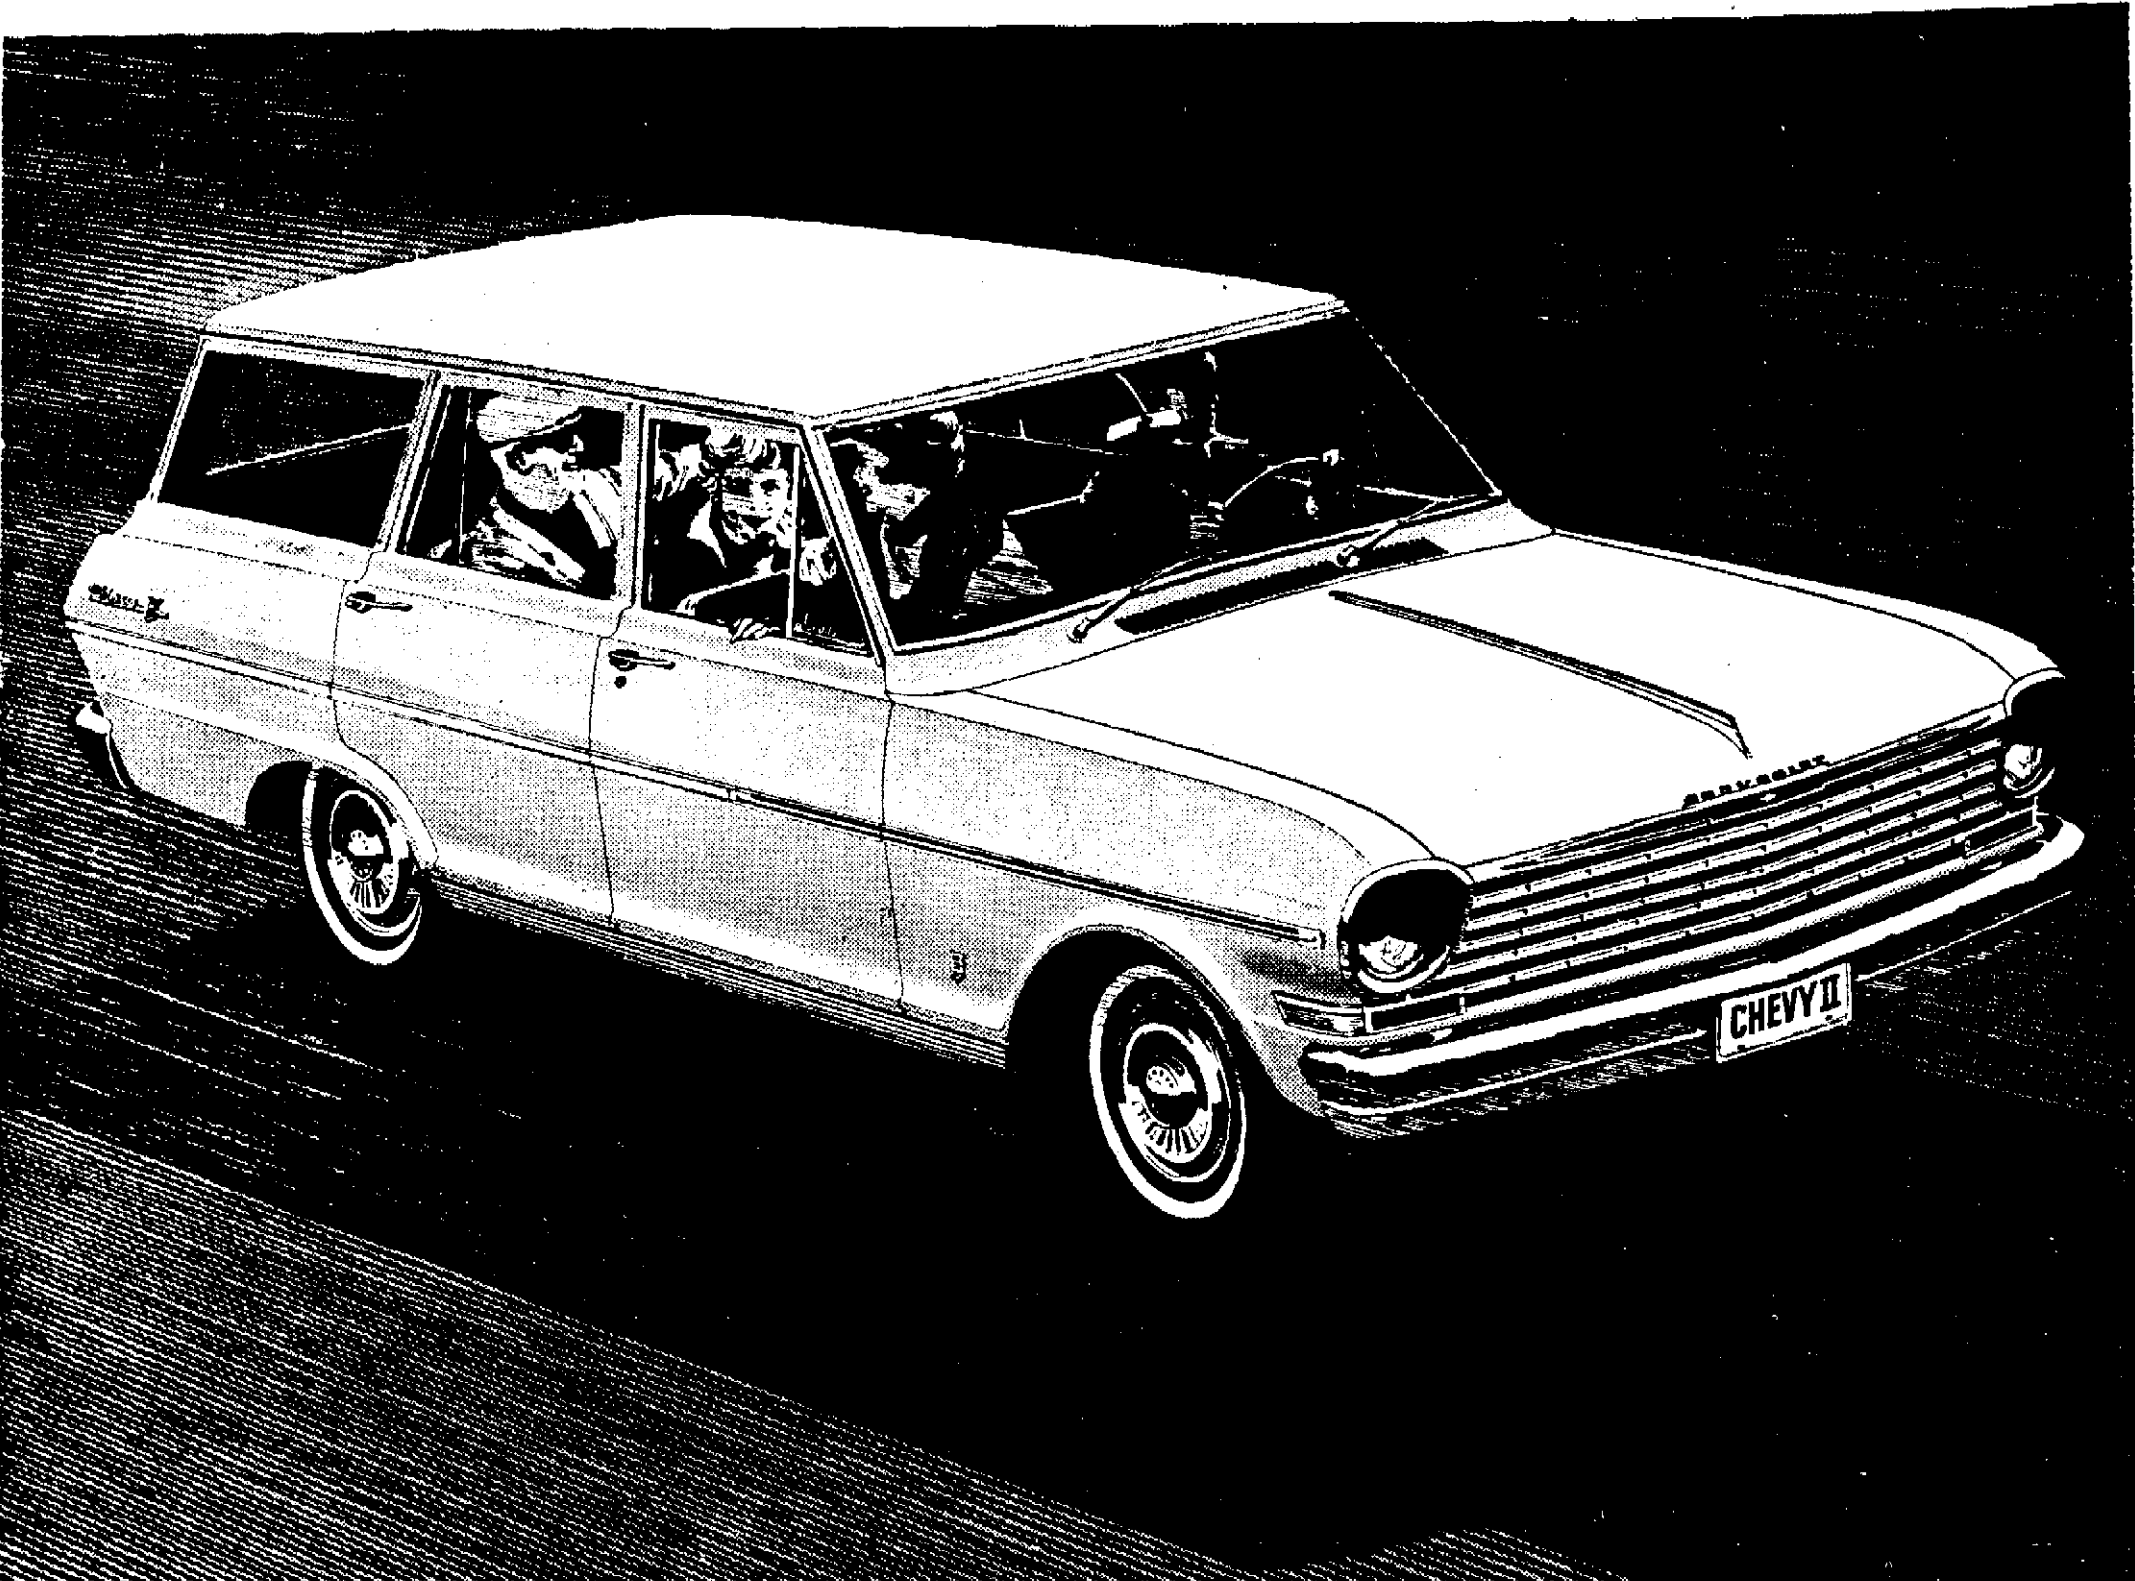

Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance replied by saying that, "During the difficult periods when the troops were first employed in the Oxford area, Negro soldiers were not used on patrols to avoid unnecessary incidents. On 6 October when the situation became more stabilized, orders were issued that Negro military personnel of army units employed in connection with the Oxford situation would be used in the performance of all normal functions in the units in all operations."

Real Issue

The real issue today is whether James Meredith has laid himself open to discipline by the university. When he called in the press and issued a public statement, he disclosed that he had tried to interfere with the functions that belong to the university authorities—namely, to maintain order on the campus. He sought on his own, and without consultation with the university, to have federal troops deployed in certain ways and to specify the composition of the military units.

While 30,000 federal troops were mobilized in Oxford and vicinity to assure Meredith's admission, the military forces were not instructed to operate the university. The federal court order merely commands the university to maintain Meredith on a par with any other students. There is nothing in the court order which requires the university to ignore what it may consider a breach of conduct by him or by any other student.

EXCITING! GO '63 CHEVY II

Nora 4-Door Station Wagon

SPUNKY NEW WAGONS THAT LEAD LONGER, HAPPIER LIVES

What a new kick you'll get out of going places in this one! And what a solvent feeling you'll get as the savings on upkeep mount! There's a full line of models, including three wagons. Basically, we've kept Chevy II's liveliness and roominess and easy loading ways. Kept its crisp looks, too (with a bit of freshening here and there). The changes we've made weren't for change's sake, you see—but for yours. Just for a sample: the brakes are self-adjusting. The new Delcotron generator gives you more electrical reserve power and helps your battery reach a vigorous old age. The Body by Fisher beauty lasts longer, too; air pushes rain and wash water down through the rocker panels (where most rust begins!) in a clever new flush-and-dry ventilating system. The muffler and exhaust system are longer lived. The ride is smoother and quieter because of a large number of small improvements we've made. And things are a lot plusher inside. Now you've read this far, haven't you? Isn't that pretty good evidence that Chevy II is made for you? The clincher will come when you take the wheel at your Chevrolet dealer's. Drop in sometime soon and see if we haven't called the shot.

Car Clubs to Present First Exhibit of 'Customized' Autos

The Wisconsin Timing Association, an organization of six car clubs, will display 30 "customized" cars at its first annual auto exhibit at Valley Fair Shopping Center this weekend.

The cars will be on display Friday evening and from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday.

The association is made up of young people interested in cars and in the promotion of good driving. The purpose of the first auto exhibit is to acquaint the public with work the group is doing.

The association is made up of three clubs in Appleton, and one each in Kaukauna, Medford and Wisconsin Rapids.

Members do all the work on their own cars. Most of the cars have been completely made over—"customized"—to fit the needs and ingenuity of their owners.

"We are not a group of hot-rodders," President Donald Weinstein says. "We have organized to promote safe and courteous driving in our city and in our state."

Each club has 17 members, and will show five cars. The car's owner will be on hand to explain the work, and club representation.

Pope John Receives Message From Former Bishop of Canterbury

HONOLULU (AP)—Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, the retired archbishop of Canterbury, sent his best wishes Wednesday to Pope John XXIII for success of the 2nd Vatican Council in Rome.

Dr. Fisher is in Honolulu for the centennial of the Hawaii Episcopal Church.

"In humble thankfulness for our fellowship with you in the brotherhood of the baptized," Dr. Fisher said, "I pray for you and the Vatican Council that the words of Christ may dwell among you all richly, the peace of Christ rule in your hearts and His love bind all together in perfect harmony."

Maritime Union Head Blasts Cuba Shipping

BY VICTOR RIESEL
NEW YORK — There now is definite evidence that Cuba will in a few weeks—begin replacing Albania as a nest for Soviet submarines.

Somberly, it must be reported that there are at least two rocket bases from which Cuban or Russian crews can take the U.S. as far west as Texas with short-range thermonuclear rockets.

This evidence is in the hands of a man not generally given to spontaneous or hysterical outbursts against the Soviet Union. He has a detailed knowledge of the USSR. He has been able to take the measure of Chairman Khrushchev himself, in the Kremlin itself, in long face-to-face conversations.

I talked with this man, Joe Curran, Big Joe, president of the 40,000-member National Maritime Union (NMU) and a vice president of the national AFL-CIO, as he made plans for what now has become a one-man crusade to make Cuba-bound NATO ships as immobile as though they were painted on the proverbial painted ocean.

This was one of several talks which began while we wandered through the graveyard which is East Berlin. What we saw then chilled us more than the symbolic darkening at noon which brought a cutting rainfall that day.

Call Motivated
In our most recent talk I asked Joe Curran what had motivated his dramatic call for a world boycott of Communist supply cargoes to Cuba.

"I know," said the man to whom information flows across a waterborne grapevine, that the Soviets have virtually completed a submarine nest at the port of Mariel, some 30 miles from Havana.

"I know," and the Central Intelligence Agency knows, that they are about to complete a rocket base at Matanzas. We have information, and we are sure the CIA and other government agencies have too, that another rocket base, complete with missiles whose range reportedly could cover the entire Southeast of the United States, has been established at Baia de Cuba.

In addition to submarine pen other reports reveal a missile base at Mariel which is equipped to hurl rockets as far as Texas.

Of course I asked Joe Curran how he knows.

Source from Cuba
"My source," said the NMU leader, "came out of Cuba. This source comes from trusted people, tough anti-Communist fighters. They were anti Batista too. I liked personally to them. I will not tell you where or how. I hope only that they come back out of Cuba alive."

Furthermore, you put this down. I believe the fishing port everybody is talking about is camouflage. The Soviets are constructing it to fish all night but in waters they plan to trouble with their subs. The port was announced so they could divert our attention from the submarine base construction. I trust my sources. I tell you that CIA and other agencies know this too."

Big Joe growls much. Now as I asked him whether this knowledge had motivated his famous recent call for a world seafaring and dock workers boycott he was more a growler than ever.

"I am an American citizen brother," said Joe Curran. "And that's a Soviet military buildup. Since I want it boycotted. But there is more."

Noticed Flags
"A couple of years ago when we were making a tour of the Soviet Union we saw many Liberian and Panamanian flag ships in Odessa and Leningrad. We were told that 46 of them had sailed in to Black Sea ports, principally Odessa, within a six-month period."

"Some of those Liberian and Panamanian flag ships and some of those carrying military cargo to Cuba today are owned by companies in which American operators have an interest."

So, said Joe, when the military buildup was launched in Cuba, he launched his boycott.

ITF Won't Cooperate

But the sailors of other unions throughout the world who are so swift with their anti-Communist resolutions, are not so quick with their willingness to stop making money out of Communist hire. The International Transport Workers (sic) Federation (ITF) has rejected the boycott. This startled both of us.

I have heard the ITF secretary-general, Pieter de Vries, in private and public talks, spout long about the "menace." Now he has written to Curran saying that the

Driver Injured In Car Crash

WEYAUWEGA — David Janson, 23, rural Weyauwega, was injured about noon Tuesday when his car left State 110 three miles north of here. Janson is in the New London Community Hospital with internal injuries.

County Police Sgt. Loren Frazer said Janson apparently blacked out while driving. Janson's car went into the ditch, hit a pile of stones and a light pole.

Janson was taken to a Weyauwega physician and then sent to the hospital.

Money Running Out

Despite Likely Crash Ceylon Still Spending

BY HENRY S. BRADSHAW
COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—After years of overspending on good living, Ceylon is running out of money. Most of its politicians hesitate to do anything but wait for the crash.

This island nation off India today imports more than it exports. The government spends more than it collects in taxes. Its foreign exchange reserves are almost depleted.

Fear of repercussions from angry voters has prevented the government from carrying out its own calls for austerity. Most opposition politicians also shy away from the unpopular measures that to cut rice imports and substitute cheaper wheat for a fourth of the weekly rice ration.

Older politicians in Mrs. Bandaranaike's Cabinet considered

By December there will not be sufficient foreign exchange to import enough rice, basic item in the Ceylon diet. Despite the lush agricultural productivity and good fishing possibilities of this tropical island, Ceylon imports 43 per cent of its rice needs, 74 per cent of its fish and much of its other food.

The nation has been warned of the December crisis by Felix Dias Bandaranaike, 32, nephew of Prime Minister Mrs. Sumarno Bandaranaike.

As finance minister, he proposed budget. "They are just like Mr. Micawber, hoping something will turn up," said a civil service expert.

"The trouble is," a leading opposition politician said, "we have of India. In 1961, rice cut political suicide. They been supporting a Rolls-Royce forced her and Felix Bandaranaike welfare state on a bullock cart juke to back down. Felix Bandaranaike resigned from the Finance Ministry.

In addition to subsidized food, the government provides free education and medical service. The budget he had introduced was further distorted by failure to collect a new 7 1/2 per cent sales tax. After two chaotic days this effort to reduce the deficit had to be abandoned.

The politicians now in command are sticking to the shell of the tea, rubber and coconuts to pay the bills. They are just like Mr. Micawber, hoping something will turn up," said a civil service expert.

The exports gave Ceylon one of the highest standards of living in underdeveloped Asia, with a per capita income almost double that of India. In 1961,

Performance counts—
Not Promises
That takes good management

Fourteen Wisconsin cooperatives, constituting DAIRY OPERATING COOPERATIVES, have survived, grown and proved successful, not by sheer luck. They have had loyal membership and sound practical leadership from their boards of directors.

Above all, the handling of millions of pounds of milk through plants and facilities worth millions of dollars demands skills, and business know-how in management of the highest calibre.

More than 20 plants are owned by the producer-members of DOC. These farmers, in turn, are guaranteed that the plants have ample capacity at all times to handle the milk volume that rolls in daily by bulk tank truck or in trucks hauling cans from their farmer members.

Milk not in demand in the city for fluid uses finds efficient processing facilities right at the home plant which is equipped to make butter, cheese or milk powder.

The whole market is right at home. That's performance, not promises. Good solid business management gets the job done. Join your hometown DAIRY OPERATING COOPERATIVE now and have good management working for you.

No Ivory-Tower About Archbishop of Canterbury

Spiritual Head of Anglicans Concerned With World Problems

BY DENNIS NEEDLE

LONDON (AP)—The man with the massive head and wisps of white hair flaring around his ears sipped his pint of cider and swapped tales with regulars at the bar of the country pub.

Few in the Devon Inn recognized the splendor of cope and miter he prized the huge, broad-shouldered image of a proud prelate fellow at the bar as the Most Rev. from a medieval stained glass Michael Ramsey, 100th archbishop window.

In British ceremonial he takes precedence over the prime minister.

Dr. Ramsey, who spends summer vacations in Devon, mixes as easily with farm and factory workers as he does with theological students and other princes of church's leading theologians and the church.

Social ease is one of many qualifications for profound learning, with him to the United States on an extended visit starting Friday men not to court popularity or with stops in New York, Trenton, N. J., Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Alexandria, Va., Columbia, S.C., and Washington.

With his walking stick and rough tweeds, Dr. Ramsey could be taken for a country squire; in the splendor of cope and miter he is the image of a proud prelate.

The son of a university lecturer, the young Ramsey was educated at Repton, a famous British school. His principal was Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Dr. Ramsey's predecessor as archbishop of Canterbury.

At Cambridge, Dr. Ramsey was and do offend against the spirit president of the university's debating society. He was ordained a deacon in 1928 and a priest the following year. He became a professor of divinity, first at Durham University, then at Cambridge. Then came the bishopric of Durham and the archbishopric of York.

Last year, on Dr. Fisher's retirement, Dr. Ramsey was appointed archbishop of Canterbury and primate of all England. He saw three major tasks before him.

The first was Christian unity. The second was to secure for the Church of England the liberty to revise its forms of public worship, which at present entails approval by Parliament. The third was "to bring God home to the people."

Unity is uppermost in Dr. Ramsey's mind. He has traveled thousands of miles to many parts of the world to further it. He has been to the Soviet Union twice. He has journeyed to India, Africa and the Middle East. He has been to the United States several times since a first visit in 1925.

Ponders Contacts

In his spacious Lambeth Palace study, the archbishop leaned back in his deep armchair as he pondered the question of contacts with Roman Catholicism. He was clad from neck to ankles in the purple cassock that denotes a prince of the church.

Of the Roman Catholic ecumenical council opening today at the Vatican, Dr. Ramsey declared:

"It is not thought possible the council will alter the faith of the Roman Catholic Church or its fundamental claim to be itself alone the Catholic Church of Christ on earth. Nor is there likely to be any alteration in our belief as Anglicans that this claim of Rome is unacceptable."

New Charity

Nevertheless, Dr. Ramsey added, "a new wind of charity has been blowing, amongst Roman Catholics and Anglicans and in every part of Christendom."

He said "opportunity can be taken of speaking to Roman Catholics freely of some of those ways in which we believe that their church's policy hurts the sciences of other Christians. But it is no less urgent that we Anglicans should examine ourselves as to the ways in which we can

San Francisco to Pin Hopes On Pierce in Friday's Game

Yankees Will Start Ford Or Stafford

BY JOE REICHLER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It just had to happen. And now the Giants can try to bounce back once more.

San Francisco's own were one game from disaster today following Wednesday's 5-3 New York Yankee victory in New York that gave the American League Champions a three-to-two edge in the World Series.

As the rivals prepare for the sixth game here Friday, the Yankees need only one more victory to record their 20th world championship in the last 40 years.

The Giants, of course, must win Friday's as well as the seventh game on Saturday to reign as champions. Since they were forced to come from behind all through the regular season why should the script be scrapped in the World Series?

They didn't catch the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League race until the final day of the season after trailing since July 9. Then they had to overcome a 4-2 deficit with four runs in the ninth inning to win the final playoff game for the pennant.

Ford and Stafford — The Giants' task is much more difficult now despite the fact the balance of the series will be played in their home park. They must beat southpaw Whitey Ford and right-hander Bill Stafford, although not necessarily in that order. Each owns a victory without having tasted defeat in the series.

Manager Alvin Dark of the Giants named lefty Billy Pierce his sixth game pitcher immediately after Wednesday's Yankee victory, which was triggered by Tom Tresh's three-run homer in the eighth inning. The blow by the rookie outfielder, off right-hander Jack Sanford, snapped a 2-2 tie and gave Ralph Terry his first World Series triumph after four defeats, one in the current series.

Dark, however, delayed naming the rest of his line-up until he learned the identity of the Yankee starting pitcher. New York Manager Ralph Houk said his pitcher would be either Ford or Stafford but declined to say which one until after their workout today.

"I still think we'll win it," averred Dark despite odds making the Yanks 3-2-1 favorites. "I've said all along the series will go seven games and we'll win it. I feel we can beat them two straight."

Houk did no gloating. He is fully aware that this has been a terrific

Series Teams Have Quiet Plane Arrival

Landing Spot for Giants Unpublicized To Avoid Crowds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The World Series teams landed here Wednesday night in separate planes about five minutes apart and were greeted quietly.

The San Francisco Giants debarked at Pan American's maintenance base, about two miles north of San Francisco International Airport.

There was no tumultuous welcome such as the frenzied greeting they received a week ago after winning the National League pennant playoff in Los Angeles.

The unusual landing spot went unpublicized in order that the team could land quietly and the players disperse to their bay area homes. A welcoming parade had been scheduled earlier but was called off. City officials plan a downtown celebration when the series is finished.

About 150 friends and relatives met the Giants' plane in an area guarded by about 100 police officers.

The New York Yankees' flight rolled up to the customary landing area about five minutes later with only a few on hand to greet them. A plan had been worked out to divert their plane if a crowd appeared, but it wasn't needed.

When it comes my turn to pick a couple of conference showdown battles this week, I'd just as soon pass.

But, since that wouldn't be quite cricket, we'll give our all for good old PCU.

Packers over Vikings — Since the Packer offense wants to share in some of the glory that's been going to the defense lately, the Vikings will probably have a tiresome day chasing Bays across the goal line. Minnesota will have to wait at least another week for its first win.

Wisconsin over Notre Dame — The Badgers are beginning to look a great deal like a force to be reckoned with in the Big 10 race. With too much depth and air-ground versatility for the Irish, Wisconsin should extend its 2-season victory string to six.

Lawrence over Monmouth — The Vikings will be in the proper frame of mind for a "bounce-back" victory. The Scots will find the Lawrence defense one of the best they'll face all year.

Xavier over Premontre — This will be a new experience for the '62 Hawks — having to go all out for four quarters — for the Cadets are primed to put Xavier to the supreme test. But, the touchdown-producing firm of Gene Clark & Company will come up with the big plays when needed just as in the 1961 game.

Appleton over North — One of the biggest scoring explosions in Ade Dillon's 20-year coaching regime (47-12 over Fond du Lac) provides the Terrors with the confidence and the know-how to take the Raiders' measure.

Kaukauna over Neenah — This annual battle royal between the two M-E powers again will go a long way toward settling the title race. This has all the earmarks of a game as close as the Packer-Lion wing-ding of last Sunday, with a break very possibly deciding the outcome. Kaukauna's ironclad defense probably can't blank explosive Neenah for a third straight year — especially since Dave Neubauer will be playing this time — but it may be able to contain the Rockets just enough to win. We'll pick the Ghosts strictly on a hunch — and a shaky one at that.

St. John over St. Mary — Unlike a few years ago, this rivalry won't decide any championship, but the action should be just as fierce. After four straight frustrations and a homecoming crowd to please, the Chuters may be just a bit more victory-hungry than the Zephyrs.

Kimberly over Menasha — If the Papermakers aren't emotionally drained from their rip-snorting game with Kaukauna, they'll have enough ammunition to repel the comebacking Jays.

Clintonville over Shawano — On the basis of their strong showings against Kimberly and Kaukauna, the Truckers appear capable of staging a mild upset.

Two Rivers over New London — The home field edge gives the nod to the Raiders in an even-appearing game.

Freedom over Fox Lutheran — The hot-and-cold Irish team will have to have one of their better games to turn the trick against the more consistent Foxes, but they appear due.

Fox Valley Conference — South over East, West over Fond du Lac, Oshkosh over Manitowoc.

Midwest Conference — Coe over Grinnell, Cornell over Beloit, Ripon over St. Olaf, Carleton over Knox.

Other Games — Lourdes over Pennings, Marinette over Springs, Weyauwega over Waupaca, Manawa over Wittenberg, Marion over Iola-Scandinavia, Bonduel over Wautoma, Denmark over Winneconne, Wrightstown over Omro, Hilbert over Shiocton, Hortonville over Reedsville, Chilton over Kohler, Plymouth over Brillion.

Fights Last Night — By The Associated Press

TOKYO—Masahiko (Fighting) Harada, 111, Japan, knocked out Pone Kingpetch, 111, Thailand, 11. Harada won world flyweight title.

OAKLAND, Calif.—Lyle Mackin, 154, Oakland, outpointed Dave Beni, 153, British Honduras, 10.

Fox Lutheran Duels Freedom Friday Night

Foxes to Make Final Home Appearance of '62

BY RALPH MUELLER

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fox Valley Lutheran will be after its fifth victory in six starts when it plays host to Freedom in the Foxes' final home game of the year at Goodland Field Friday night. The opening kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

Coach Dave Umnus' gridders are hoping to avenge last season's 18-14 loss at the hands of the Irish. Freedom's passing combination of Jerry Stadler to Jim Brockman clicked three times in that game to account for all the Freedom scoring.

The Foxes are working hard on pass defense this week, guarding the possibility of a repeat performance. Both Stadler and Brockman are gone, but Vance Garvey has taken over as the "trigger man" on Freedom pass plays.

Pass Receivers — Coach John Van Ezeren also has some fine pass receivers in Mike Metoxen and Dick Peters, making it entirely possible that another combination could do a repeat. Sophomore Glenn Bowers could get into the act, as he is the second string quarterback.

Coach Umnus has been working gradually toward two complete platoons. The defensive secondary that is getting the workout this week consists of sophomore Bill Gressens and Wayne Koenig at the deep positions and Bruce Lidge and Larry Gorges on the corners.

TOKYO (AP)—A return match for the world flyweight title between Masahiko (Fighting) Harada of Japan and Pone Kingpetch of Thailand will be held in Bangkok, Jan. 12.

Takeshi Sasazaki, manager of the newly crowned world flyweight king Harada, and Thongthos Indrathat, manager of former champion Kingpetch, today agreed to the date at a meeting held in the hotel suite of Nat Fleischer.

Fleischer, editor and publisher of the American "Ring Magazine," was one of the judges at Wednesday night's championship light between Kingpetch and Harada in which Kingpetch lost his title in an 11th-round knockout.

Jim Taylor Increases Lead Over Brown in Ground-Gaining Race

Herb Adderley Tops Pass Interceptors; Hornung Still Paces NFL Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay's jarring Jim Taylor, who refuses to stop when he is hit, has increased his rushing lead in the National Football League.

The powerful fullback is one of the three Packer players who lead the league in individual statistics. The others are Paul Hornung, the perennial scoring leader who again is tops in that field, and Herb Adderley who leads in pass interceptions.

The NFL statistics, released Wednesday, show that Taylor has piled up 418 yards in 77 carries in four games for an average of 5.4 yards. Jimmy Brown, the Cleveland workhorse who led the league in rushing last year, is in second place. In 67 runs, Brown has gained 331 yards for a 4.9 average.

Crow Second — Hornung, who won the scoring title the past three years, is off to a fast start with 55 points. He has scored four touchdowns, 13 points after touchdowns and six field goals. In second place is John Crow of St. Louis who has 42 points on seven touchdowns.

California Golfer Shoots 3 Aces In 9-Hole Round

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Joe Boydstone shot three holes-in-one in a nine hole round Wednesday at the Bakersfield Public Golf Course.

The first was on the third hole of 210 yards, the next on the fourth hole of 135 yards and the third on the ninth hole of 132 yards.

The feat was witnessed by three other golfers.

Three little words that fill Fox Cities football fans' cup of anticipation to overflowing are "Kaukauna vs Neenah."

The 1962 renewal of that exciting pitting between two of the area's perennial high school powers is booked for 2 p.m. Saturday in Neenah.

At stake will be the undisputed leadership of the Mid-Eastern Conference, two sizable winning streaks and the perfect records of the two head coaches.

The Rockets and the twice-in-a-row champion Ghosts share the M-E lead with 3.0 records and have both won four straight, overall, this season.

Victory Streaks — Kaukauna's fabulous 3-season victory streak—the longest in the school's history and perhaps in the conference's history—now encompasses 20 straight games. Neenah has racked up eight consecutive wins since bowing, 6-0, to Kaukauna last year.

Neither of the chief strategists has ever lost a game as head coach. Kaukauna's Harry Wilson took over at the start of the 1960 season and has been at the helm 7:30 p.m.

Premontre-Xavier Game Starts Earlier

The Premontre-al-Xavier football game Saturday night at Goodland Field will start one-half hour earlier than previously planned. The kick-off is set for 7:30 p.m.

Canadian Moose Hunt Offers Excitement And Disappointment

Writer Describes Experiences in Bush Camp

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

LONG LAKE, Ontario—The silver Cessina scooted across the choppy water of this bush country lake leaving Guide Gordon Woods, Fred Kirsch and the writer standing on the shore beside a green canoe and a pile of gear.

This was how the second phase of our current Canadian moose hunting trip started. We were deep in the bush country of northwestern Ontario near the Manitoba border in search of not just any moose but a particular bull which had been spotted once from the ground and several times from the air. It carried, we were told, a tremendous rack.

Outfitter Ralph Webb, of Sabourin Lake, arranged the trip in for Kirsch and the writer. He wanted us to have the big bull if we could get it. We were going to give it a go. Woods had packed a supply of canned goods and bacon, enough to last three days. We would need at least that long to locate the moose and work on him.

The lake we were on is located on the map but carries no official name. Guides and trappers here call it Long Lake quite obviously because it's a long, narrow body of water. When the plane disappeared we began to set up camp. Woods cut three slender birch poles, trimmed them and we put up the tent. One pole went through the top of the canvas and the end was anchored to a tree. The other two poles were placed together at the top and the center pole was placed in the resulting crotch. This is what is known as an "A-frame" tent. It would provide little more than shelter for our sleeping bags at night. As it turned out we were only to sleep in the tent once.

Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor Jay Reed is on an extended assignment in northwestern Ontario, Canada, covering the 1962 moose hunting season. Working out of Webb's Sabourin Lake Fly-in Camp, this is his report of a special 3-day hunt deeper in the bush country for a trophy moose. Additional stories and pictures from Reed of Canadian moose-hunting will appear Friday in the Post-Crescent sports section and Sunday on the Outdoor Page.

After a lunch of bacon sandwiches we boarded the canoe and headed up a small river which led off the lower end of the lake. We had been told we could go six or seven miles on this waterway without making a portage. As it developed, however, the water was at low level and we reached our first portage within two miles. To dismiss a Canadian bush country portage with just one simple reference isn't really fair because this is rugged work.

First you carry your gear around. Then you come back for the canoe. The brush is thick, the footing uneven. When the weather is warm, as it was when we were there, clouds of mosquitoes and tiny black flies swarm around your head, squirm into your ears, nostrils and even your mouth and there is nothing you can do about it because your arms are holding the canoe.

You sweat, grunt, strain, stumble and, at last you make it. We continued on up the creek for another couple of miles and the river kept growing more shallow and narrow until, at last, we hit a portage of about a quarter of a mile. Here were heavier dams, criss-crossed logs, inches of water, above knee-deep muck and thick, tangled marsh grass and willows. We went through.

At dusk we split up with Kirsch taking a stand high on a rock overlooking one bay. The guide and the writer went on to another bay about a mile or so up stream. We waited, we watched, we saw nothing except a lot of moose sign including some huge tracks which the guide figured had to belong to the trophy bull we were after.

We returned after dark to our camp back through the portages. Next morning we walked over of a bull. About 10 minutes later land in a small lake about a mile away on which the big bull had been spotted. But there was nothing. We noted, however, further only indication that we were in the and even the head of a large heart of the country where the moose is a small target at that bull was living. In full rut, it appeared. We tracked the bull peered the moose was traveling through the thicket around the with a harem of about six cows, bay and up to the rocky ledge.

We decided then that we'd have on top of the canyon. There was to split up for the night. Each no blood. The moose had come of us took a sleeping bag, a tin of into view in the wrong place as meat, a can of fruit juice and sev- far as we were concerned, and, eral slices of bread. Tresh Surprised to See Sanford's Fast Ball 'Coming Down the Pipe'

BY JIM BECKER

NEW YORK (AP)—Tom Tresh always wanted to be a big league ball player like his dad, but not a catcher.

"Dad was afraid it would waste my speed," he said.

Young Tom—son of former Chicago White Sox catcher Mike Tresh—became the left fielder for the New York Yankees. But he only needed speed enough to jog around the bases Wednesday, after he blasted a three-run homer at Yankee Stadium that won the fifth game of the World Series against the San Francisco Giants.

Tresh blasted Jack Sanford's second pitch into the right field seats in the eighth inning, with two on and the score tied 2-2, to play the hero's role.

"I was choked up on the bat, just trying for a base hit, especially with him (Sanford) pitching," said Tresh, "but he threw me a fast ball right down the pipe. I was sure surprised to see it, because I hadn't seen anything like that off him in two games."

"When I saw where the ball was, I took a good cut. I thought it was gone all the way. It was the biggest hit of my life."

Kubek Returned

Tresh, a 23-year-old rookie, won the Yankee shortstop job this spring and spent half the season there until the regular occupant, Tony Kubek, returned from military service. Then he was shifted to left.

He hit .286 during the season, with 20 home runs. He leads the Yankee hitters in the series, with .400, on eight hits in 20 at bats.

Tom's father, mother and wife were in the stands when he pounded out his first World Series homer, and the elder Tresh was called to the clubhouse after the game.

"Where were you sitting?" he was asked. "I wasn't sitting. I was jumping up and down. This was a bigger thrill than anything I ever did," said Mike, now 49, who never played in a World Series during his 12-season career with the White Sox and Cleveland Indians.

Young Tresh stood stripped in his cubicle in the Yankee dressing room, answering questions. He is tall (6-feet), husky (180 pounds), with sand-colored hair and a pleasant face that would qualify him as a model for a breakfast cereal ad.

"From the time I was five or six years old," he said, "I always told everyone I was going to be a ball player. But I wanted to be an infielder."

Fair Speed

"Dad didn't want me to be a catcher. I had pretty fair speed, and you can ruin that squatting down behind the plate."

"I played every kind of organized ball I could play, when I was a kid. Dad wanted me to be a switch hitter, and he started me out hitting both ways when I was seven or eight."

Tresh hit his big homer left-handed, off the right-handed Sanford. During the season he hit 12 homers left-handed, and eight batting right-handed.

"I came to bat more left-handed, so it worked out about even," Tresh said.

From the time he was 12, and began to think about a major league team, Tresh said "I idolized the Yankees."

"I had my mind made up to sign with them, before they ever asked me," he said.

Canada Takes World Golf Lead in Japan

Patton Hits 73; Other American Players Falter

KAWANA, Japan (AP)—Canada shot into the lead in the third World Amateur Golf Team Championship today, overtaking a faltering United States squad with consistent near-par play on the dimly cold and wet Fuji course.

Long-hitting Gary Cowan, the first player on the course for the second round of the 72-hole stroke play tournament, showed the way with a 71 on the rain-soaked 70 course which measures 6,587 yards.

Two other Canadians, Bill Wakeham and Nick Westlock carded 73s to give Canada a 217-stroke team total for the day and a two-day score of 432. Only the lowest three scores for each team each day are counted in compiling the team figures. After the first round Wednesday it was 212 for the United States and 215 for Canada.

The Americans, who had led by three strokes after the first round, came apart in today's cold rain and wound up six strokes behind Canada at 438. Meanwhile Ronnie Shade, playing in the next-to-last threesome, shattered the Fuji course record with a round of 33—33—66 and boosted the combined Britain-Ireland team into contention.

Still Third

New Zealand held onto third in the team standings with a two-day total of 442. Britain-Ireland followed with 444. Then came Formosa with 453, Australia 455, South Africa 456 and Japan 457.

The Americans' play was just about as miserable as the weather. Billy Joe Patton managed a scrambling 73 but Dick Sikes, two-time U.S. Public Links champion from Wichita, Kan., and the University of Arkansas, scored from 69 to 76.

Labron Harris Jr., the U.S.

amateur champion, had a 77 after going six over par on the front nine and former amateur champion Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., staggered in with an 80 that didn't count in today's team scoring.

Shade's 66, with five birdies and a bogey, lowered the course record set in 1954 by Japanese pro Pete Nakamura and equalled Wednesday by Cowan.

Tom Tresh Poses with his father, Mike Tresh, right, a former major leaguer, in the Yankee Stadium dressing room Wednesday after the Yankees won the fifth game of the World Series, 5-3, over the San Francisco Giants. Big Burden Lifted Off Shoulders, Terry Says

Memory of Pitch To Mazaroski in 1960 Had Lingered

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Terry is a man who has known misfortune. Around his neck, like the Queen Mary's anchor, has hung the memory of the pitch that Bill Mazaroski hit in the 1960 World Series.

Terry seemed destined to go down in the record books as the man who threw the home run ball to Maz and lost a World Series to Pittsburgh. Even when he led the New York Yankees with a 23-12 record this year, they pointed to that embarrassing series.

That was why Terry said Tuesday afternoon, "I doubt if any pitcher ever had more of an incentive than I have now." They were rolling out the old bromides about the fellow who doesn't win "the big ones" because his series record was 0-4.

Terry is a lean, slender young man, born in a place with the bucolic name of Big Cabin, Okla. Boyishly handsome, he looks younger than his 26 years. He is a sensitive man, one who finds it difficult to cloak his emotions in the cynical so-what attitude of many athletes.

Today, he is a happy man. "I feel like I've crashed through a big barrier, or something," he said after beating the Giants 5-3 in the fifth game in Yankee Stadium. "Like somebody lifted a big burden off my shoulders. It's a wonderful feeling."

Had Struck Out

There were many who felt Terry would not be around for the finish because the score was tied at 2-2 when the Yanks came up in the eighth and Terry was the first hitter. The situation seemed

Giants to Pin Hopes On Billy Pierce Friday

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 struggle so far, with very little to choose between the teams. Go- ing into the seventh inning, San Francisco 2, Milwaukee 0. Neither team has had more than a one-run lead in any of the five games. In four of them the score was tied. In the other, the Giants boasted a 1-0 advantage.

The Yankees have made only 38 hits to 37 for the Giants. Tresh's homer was only the second for the Yankees. The Giants have hit five off Yankee pitching. Only in the first game has either team hit in double figures.

"This is far from over," said Houk quietly. "I remember the Milwaukee Braves were leading the Yankees three games to one, once (1958) and lost the series." If Ford pitches Friday, he will be making his third start in the series. He won the opener 6-2 and then went six innings, giving up two runs in the fourth game last Monday, won by the Giants 7-3. Jim Coates was charged with the loss. Whitey has had three full days of rest.

Pierce owns an unblemished record at Candlestick Park. The 35-year-old left-hander won 12 without a defeat in his home park during the 1962 campaign, his first one with the Giants after many years with the White Sox. He lost a 3-2 decision to Stanford in the third game last Sunday but that was at Yankee Stadium.

Should the Giants win Friday, their seventh game pitcher will be either lefty Billy O'Dell or San- ford Stafford or Ford, depending on who goes Friday, will be the Yankees' final game pitcher.

O'Dell was the losing pitcher in the opener, then gave up one run in three innings of relief in the fourth game. Sanford pitched the series' only shutout, a brilliant three-hitter against Terry in the second game. Big Jack had a three-hitter going into the eighth inning of the fifth game in New York Wednesday.

Two of the hits were "bleeders." One was a Texas League double by Tresh that shortstop Jose Pa- gan dropped after a long run. The other was a topped single by Bobby Richardson half way to the mound. The first two Yankee runs crossed the plate on a wild pitch and a passed ball. Pagan scored the first two Giant runs. He sin-

The lone touchdown for Roosevelt was counted by Larry Einstahr.

Florida Prep Gridder Dies of Heat Stroke

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A Cham- berlain High School junior varsity football player died of heat stroke Wednesday.

The boy, Richard Glen Wright, 15, a 175-pound tackle, was hos- pitalized Monday after he fainted following practice. An autopsy es- tablished the cause of death as heat stroke. The U.S. Weather Bureau recorded 86 degrees as top temperature Monday in Tampa.

Big Guns Having A Rough Series

NEW YORK (AP)—The big men of the New York Yankees and San Francisco Giants are having their troubles in the World Series.

Roger Maris, the other half of the Yanks' M & M boys, has three hits in 16 at bats for a .188 mark. ly NAIA football ratings topped Orlando Cepeda, the Giants slugging first baseman, is on the bench after going hitless in 12 trips. Neenah Meets Kaukauna for M-E Grid Lead points. The Ghosts' over-all de- fensive average is a miserly 2.3. No conference team has scored a touchdown against Kaukauna this year.

Elusive Runner

In his playing days at the Uni- versity of Wisconsin, Harland Carl was dubbed "The Jittery Jet." He has a 1962 version of such an elusive ball-carrier on his own team—Dave Neubauer. The quick-stepping halfback has scored eight touchdowns—seven of them in M-E play to take the circuit's point lead.

Neenah quarterback Dick Kuehl has two other regular backs who do quite a job of carrying the mail—halfback Dick Weinke and fullback Hollis Bliss. End Ewalt Wollerman has caught three TD passes.

Though Kaukauna's offense has been far less prolific—a 13.3- point scoring average—it has been able to generate the big play or big series when needed. (The Ghosts' 7-0 wins over Clintonville and Kimberly attest to that). Kau- kauna exhibited the same ability last year, for example, when Bill Van Dyke returned a punt 70 yards to beat Neenah.

The Ghost attack, directed by quarterback Bud O'Brien, will face a Neenah defense that has permitted an average of seven points per game.

Menasha is the only common foe thus far for the Rockets and the Ghosts. Neenah blitzed the Jays, 46-0, Kaukauna scored a 12-2 victory over Menasha on a wet field.

Expected Starters

Kaukauna's starters are expect- ed to be Don Straus and John Skubba, ends; Art Dorn and Dan Biese, tackles; Ron Skalmusky and Tom Berghuis, guards; Ron Straus, center; O'Brien, quar- terback; Dick Promer and Pete Dordim, halfbacks; and Tom Nie- stand, fullback. Among the Ghosts' offensive reserves is Tim Verstegen, who turned in a pair of 52-yard TD runs against She- boygan North.

Neenah's starting line will likely be Wollerman and Dan Zehner, ends; Bill Dixon and Dave Mis- sail, tackles; Mike Miller and Mike Demerath, guards; Jim Thomas, center.

The last time Kaukauna played at Neenah (1960), it ended the Rockets' unbeaten home streak at 25 straight games.

Wall Street Tries to Hike Investments

Searches for Way To Make Stocks
More Competitive

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Can the astronauts pull the stock market up with them? Will tax loss selling, just around the corner, raise volume if not prices? Can good earnings reports, especially of some of the utilities in growth areas, lure the conservative investor back?

As the market strives to make up its mind which way it's headed, and as most days find trading slow, Wall Street is looking hopefully for something that will make common stocks more competitive again with other ways of investing money.

Stocks of some companies with aerospace contracts already have recovered a nice chunk of their earlier price losses. Brokers are hoping that more of the general public will be attracted.

For the average investor the trick is to be sure which of the hundreds of possibly eligible companies, large and small, will land aerospace contracts or subcontracts. The government will pour billions of dollars into the space race.

Will Profits Raise Earnings?

But for the investor there's the question: Will profits from any particular contract materially raise total earnings, especially of the big and diversified corporations?

Brokers look for a large volume of tax loss selling this year as an aftermath of the drop in prices of many stocks since January 1. Persons who bought at prices higher than today's can sell, using the loss to offset any gains from more fortunate ventures.

Naturally the brokers hope that such selling will be largely in the form of switching. That is, money from sales for tax purposes immediately used to buy other stocks that are or appear to be bargain priced now.

Stocks Have Competitors

But Wall Street is aware that common stocks today have a host of competitors for any idle cash. Various savings institutions are offering interest rates that still top the yields of many stocks—that is, return in dividends as percentage of current prices.

Many bonds, corporate and government, return more at today's prices than do lots of stocks. A lot of investors, big or small, who sold stocks during the market breaks in May and June are believed to have put their money then and since into savings institutions or bonds, real estate or art.

Getting them back into the market may take some doing.

One thing that could do the trick would be a sudden bit of good news—or a growing belief that good news is in the works. If the public gets that idea, it will go for common stocks again. The lower yields, compared to savings or bonds, will weigh less with the public than the hope for capital gains—that is, the chance to sell stocks for more than it paid for them.

Astronauts Could Lead Back

That is why some think the astronauts who have captured the public's fancy and enthusiasm could lead the public back into buying stocks of companies whose future is closely linked with the space age.

Others think some investors will be impressed by increased earnings of many utilities. Yields of these stocks aren't spectacular, because their earnings are subject to government regulation. For the same reason, price swings either up or down tend to be staid compared to some industrials.

But utilities serving growing sections offer many attributes usually considered the monopoly of the once glamorous growth companies in other fields.

Brokers argue that, given a reasonably healthy general economy in the next few years, earnings of these utilities should continue to grow—and, with luck, so should the price of their stocks.

Private Eyes Gather For Annual Convention

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Private investigators gathered here for a convention of the World Secret Service Association, Inc., poked holes in a lot of people's ideas about private eyes.

"It's just not like it is on television," said investigator Ellis Sandlin of Detroit.

"I don't see how they survive all those fist fights," said Lee A. Enoch Jr., of Nashville.

Furthermore, they said, private investigators generally don't carry firearms and don't make arrests. They cooperate with police departments.

State Road Chief Refutes TV Charges

Brinkley Blasted for Charging Highway Program Is Corrupted

MADISON — A recent television report by David Brinkley on the highway program was refuted today by Harold Grasse, chairman of the State Highway Commission, as "grossly unfair to the state of Wisconsin, its citizens and all employees of our department."

Grasse stated, "we'll say it's a good thing that the public has been kept informed of the highway program. But we do take issue with blanket charges of wrongdoing without sufficient evidence to substantiate the charges, and without a face-to-face opportunity to discuss and refute the charges."

The Interstate Highway program is not only the world's largest public works undertaking, but is being accompanied by a record amount of graft and corruption. It was further charged that all except a handful of states are involved in the wrong doing to some degree.

"The aim of the report was to tempt to focus the public spotlight on actual cases of fraud and dishonesty. There is no question that corrupt practices in government and industry must be ferreted out and certainly this is a function of the free press in our society."

However the Brinkley report overshot the target when it attempted to indict the entire highway administration and industry for the faults of a few. The report went beyond the bounds of common decency. Grasse added, "in attempting to include Wisconsin and numerous other states long noted for their freedom from corruption without citing evidence or actual details."

Wisconsin was listed among 22 states that had at some time shown some variation from standards of the U. S. General Accounting Office. GAO Brinkley explained that some of the so-called irregularities in this category were "technical" yet he "deliberately named and located each one of the 22 states on a map to join them in the general pattern of alleged wrong-doing."

"We do not question the right of the news media to uncover or expose dishonesty and wrongful conduct in public affairs nor do we Records and without proven wrongdoing. In effect, he has challenged the entire structure of Wisconsin government, which has a remarkable record for loyalty, honesty and devotion to duty. Our highway department is but one example out of many," Grasse concluded, "of good citizenship in Wisconsin."

Uniformity Clause Stirs State Solons

Upcoming Vote 20th Attempt Which Urban Reform Sought

MADISON — A favorite reform cause of some urban-minded Wisconsin politicians, modernization of county government, returned to the state capitol discussion agenda Monday as a legislative committee decided that it would vote next month on a proposal to remove the county uniformity clause from the state constitution.

The committee, headed by Sen. W. A. Draheim of Neenah, has a state politics for three decades but the legislature, in spite of some 20 separate proposals during that time, has yet shown no disposition to repeal or to amend it.

Report Scheduled — It was not able to agree even to take a vote on a final recommendation to the legislature.

The Draheim committee will report to the new legislature coming in January. An amendment considered in the next legislature or local wishes. The legislature has prescribed under the uniformity rule the county board system, which in many of the urbanized localities of the state is now producing dissatisfaction because of the growing realization that towns and villages have a representation on the county board greater than their proportionate share of population and that the growing cities are under-represented.

Appointment Overlooked? Inspector's Problem: No Department Head

Appleton's heating inspector has a problem.

In a letter to the mayor and board of public works, Alvin C. Ankersen says he recently discovered that he should have been his own department head since 1960.

Ankersen also took the opportunity to request his salary of $410 per month be increased to $500 to be comparable with salaries being paid other inspectors. "I should have had consideration on this since 1960," Ankersen says.

When he became the city's first heating inspector on April 16, 1956, Ankersen's department was placed under the building inspector's division.

"In 1960 I felt that my position should be a separate department the same as the plumbing, electrical and building inspector," Ankersen said, adding, "I also wanted to become chairman of the City of Appleton's heating board."

It seems that Ankersen was appointed to the board but never received the promotion to department head and the pay increase that would accompany it.

Ankersen did some research and discovered that on Aug. 6, 1960, a recommendation was made to make him department head. For some reason this was not followed through the city attorney's office, but I was appointed to the heating board," Ankersen recalls.

"Recently I followed through on this and found I should have been my department head since 1960," he adds.

Even in champagne generat- ed emergencies, a house shouldn't be bought without a lawyer and a formal agreement. Receipts and even "temporary binder con- tracts" can be among a person's major lifetime mistakes. The same goes for doing business while celebrating.

DEAR CY: . . . The office boy where I once worked spent most of his time rustling around in waste baskets picking up envelopes. After he got a bunch together, he'd go into a corner and clip the stamps from them. I always wondered how much he made off of those stamps. Wernher Von Braun Flunked Mathematics in Ninth Grade

Father Relates Famed Scientist Had Trouble During School Years

BY PETER REIAK

Speaking of the Berlin school, OBERAUDORF, Germany (AP)—Is your child having trouble with mathematics? Don't worry, rocket expert Wernher von Braun did too when he was a boy.

His father, Baron Magnus von Braun, was exposed to as many ups and downs in his son's early school career as any space-age father.

The elder von Braun, at 84 an imposing man with a short white beard, recalled in an interview that his son failed the 9th grade, the baron said. "He would spend because he wasn't interested in the arithmetic and kindred subjects he later found essential to his career."

No Surprise

"The failure came as no surprise because his teachers' quarterly reports said he had little interest in the subject," the baron said at his home in this resort village.

Wernher von Braun, whose complex calculations years later were to send the first U.S. space satellite into orbit, at the time was enrolled at Berlin's exclusive College Royal Francaise.

His father, a wealthy landowner in Lower Silesia, was general manager of an agricultural land-bank in Berlin.

Later he became a cabinet minister in the Von Papen government. He retired from public life in 1932. His wife died in 1959.

Asked Questions

"My wife and I thought he would do better away from the distractions of the big city," his father said. "But he kept getting manager of an agricultural land-bank in Berlin."

"I was later told that at both Eittersburg and in Berlin he had later in the Von Papen government. He retired from public life in 1932. His wife died in 1959."

Asked Questions

"My wife and I thought he would do better away from the distractions of the big city," his father said. "But he kept getting manager of an agricultural land-bank in Berlin."

"I was later told that at both Eittersburg and in Berlin he had later in the Von Papen government. He retired from public life in 1932. His wife died in 1959."

"They probably thought he was being smart, but that was just Wernher's manner. He always kept asking questions."

It was at the Hermann Lietz High School at Speikeroog, on the North Sea, that the trend changed.

"When I opened a letter from the school I got a big surprise," the father said proudly. "It said Wernher was way ahead of his class in mathematics and that his progress was remarkable."

"Later I was told that he had substituted for a sick teacher and taught the final school year in mathematics."

"But Wernher always was a remarkable child. When he was 4 he could read a newspaper upside down and right side up. He had a remarkable ability to apply himself to whatever interested him."

"The same was true when he started to work for the Americans in 1945. He learned English in nine months."

The baron said his other two sons sailed through school with little trouble.

The eldest, Sigismund, is a diplomat recently appointed observer for the West German government at the United Nations. Magnus, the youngest, is an executive with Chrysler Corp. in Detroit.

"Sigismund and Magnus are clever, but they are ordinary people," their father said. "Wernher is a genius."

Digestive Tract Cancer Curable if Caught Early

BY CARL N. NEUPERT, M.D., State Health Officer

While early detection is the key to any cancer cure, it is even more important with cancer of the stomach and digestive tract. A recent study of stomach cancer treatment revealed that 50 per cent of the patients were saved the most frequent, but also one of the most dangerous kinds of cancer before it had gone beyond the wall of the stomach.

About one-fourth of all cancer occurs somewhere along the path of the digestive tract. The greatest problem in detecting it. Such cancer, like most other forms of the disorder, is painless in its early stages, and its symptoms so slight or confusing that many persons feel they are not worth bothering about.

This is why it's wise to have a complete periodic medical check-up.

It's also up to all of us to watch for and notice any indication of change or trouble in the digestive tract. This might mean persistent indigestion, difficulty in swallowing, or a change in bowel habits.

None of these symptoms mean

The Wisconsin Timing Association (WTA) is an organization of car clubs located in a number of Wisconsin cities including Appleton. Its members work on their individual cars, in many cases actually making them completely over to suit their own needs and the ingenuity of their young owners. Some are fairly new cars with different parts and some are in the antique class with new insides and designing changes.

The WTA members, all young boys and girls, are not a group of "hot rodders", but an organization interested in car designing, and rebuilding. They also promote safe and courteous driving with its rules and constitution requiring members to be very careful about their driving habits. Owners of the cars will be on hand during the show to explain what they did to create their "masterpieces."

These Recipes for Good Eating Star Crisp, Crunchy Texture of Apples

The French Version of baked apples is called Pommes au Four. Sugar and cinnamon filled apples are baked in a buttery sauce and then served on rounds of cinnamon toast to make a simple, delectable dessert.

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

One of the prettiest autumn sights along country roads this fall in the Fox Cities area were the apple orchards with their overburdened trees fairly groaning under the weight of rosy red, yellow and green fruit.

The crop in the several counties around here range from Duchess to Delicious apples . . . including a big, tart and juicy Wolf River variety that grows only in this region. Add to these the wide variety of shipped-in apples and the different types available to the cook are endless. Homegrown include wealthies, MacIntosh, Jonathons, Rome Beauties, greenings, winesap and a host of less familiar apple names on the market.

A general rule to remember for apple cookery success is to use tart apples for pies and general cooking purposes. Select apples which hold their shape well when they are to be baked whole, sliced or fried. Apples are naturally juicy, so don't use too much water when making apple sauce or baked apples . . . but use just enough to keep them from sticking and scorching.

Another useful trick to follow is to sweeten apple sauce after it's taken from the heat, but while it's still hot enough to dissolve the sugar. Two cardinal rules for better looking dishes are to 1) be sure to sprinkle raw peeled apples with fresh lemon juice or place in water and prepared ascorbic acid mixture to keep the fruit from turning dark and 2) remember that the bright red peel can add a touch of color to many a dish, so don't always peel apples.

So, with these words of wisdom, here are some unusual ways to serve apples. Some are old recipes, tried and true in their home area, but perhaps new to homemakers here

Pommes au Four
(Baked Apples)
6 medium baking apples
1/2 cup boiling water
1/3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
6 teaspoons butter
6 rounds cinnamon toast

Wash and core unpeeled apples. Place in buttered round baking dish. Add hot water. Mix sugar with cinnamon and spoon into cavities of apples (this may be done before putting apples in baking dish to prevent spills, if preferred). Add one teaspoon butter to each apple cavity. Cover and bake in preheated, 350-degree oven 20 minutes. Remove cover; baste with liquid around apples. Continue cooking until apples are tender, 35 to 40 minutes. Serve on rounds of cinnamon toast.

Cinnamon Toast Rounds
Cut six slices of bread into four-inch rounds with a large cookie cutter or other round object such as a glass or can. Spread each round with butter. Place under broiler to toast. Mix together one and one-half teaspoons sugar with one-fourth teaspoon ground cinnamon. Sprinkle with mixture.

Bananas and Apples have been a favorite flavor blend for years. Try these Banana Apple Roses at your next club luncheon or committee meeting. Dainty in appearance, they also satisfy hearty appetites. Served with cold meats, hot rolls and tea or coffee, the luncheon menu is complete.

Sausage Apple Bake is a traditional southern breakfast combination, appearing here in the form of an upside-down cake. A salted cracker crumb mixture made with chopped apples, eggs and spices forms the base for apple slices and sausage meat baked in brown sugar and butter.

No Dessert Quite equals the popularity of freshly baked apple pie. This variation has a flavorful filling of fresh tart apples, sugar, cinnamon and sun-ripened raisins. It's a wonderful combination that makes a perfect ending to a meal or a wonderful refreshment for afternoon or evening guests. A lattice crust gives any pie a party air.

Raisins are Good Taste Surprises

Raisins are old favorites for fruit cakes and cookies, but they can give a surprising taste treat to many other foods.

Here are a few tips worth keeping on hand to add that special touch to a recipe.

Pumpkin Pie Deluxe
Sprinkle the unbaked pie shell generously with plump, sweet California raisins to give your Thanksgiving or other holiday pie a special surprise flavor. Pour the filling over the raisins and bake.

Raisin Sunshine Conserve
Start with a jar of peach preserves to make this elegant meat accompaniment. Add about one-half cup each of coarsely chopped golden raisins and slivered almonds. Stir well. This conserve is excellent with roasts of pork, beef or lamb.

Apple Recipes For Good Eating

Banana-Apple Rose Salad
6 red apples
lemon juice
12 ounces cream cheese, softened
3 bananas, sliced
1/2 cup nuts, chopped mayonnaise
lettuce

This recipe needs a little time for adequate chilling of apple roses.

Wash and core apples without peeling. Remove one slice from top of each apple, reserve cut slices. Scoop out apples, leaving about a half-inch wall. Save apple meat that has been scooped out to mix later with filling. Score inside of apple with paring knife. Brush all exposed surfaces of apple, including scooped out chunks, with lemon juice to keep from darkening. Also, wipe outside surface of each apple dry.

To form petals, start at top of apple; press a level teaspoon of cream cheese against side of apple, then draw spoon downward with a curving motion. Repeat until two or three rows of cheese petals have been made on out-side surface of each apple.

For an extra special look, one portion of cheese may be tinted light pink and the rest a deeper pink. Refrigerate apple roses for at least one hour.

Just before serving time, dice reserved apple meat; combine with sliced bananas and chopped nuts. Add enough mayonnaise to hold mixture together. Carefully spoon mixture into apple roses. Top with reserved apple slice and additional banana slices. Serve on lettuce.

Sausage Apple Bake
1 packet in-c-seal saltine crackers, crushed
3 eggs, beaten
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 large apples, peeled, cored and chopped
1 pound sausage meat
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup melted butter
1 cup apple slices

Combine cracker crumbs, eggs, cinnamon, pepper and chopped apples. Slice sausage meat and cook over low heat. Drain on pa-per towels after cooked.

Breakfasts for School Days

BY MARY-BETH KUESTER
Home Economist,
Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

There are breakfasts to fit every student from kindergarten to college age.

An electric blender can give you a breakfast in a glass that takes but seconds to make and minutes to drink for those always "in a hurry. I'm late" youngsters.

There are Miss Kuester plenty of low calorie breakfast items that can please even the most rigid dieter of the teen-age set.

Even the professed "not hungry" will have a hard time passing up fragrant coffee cake fresh from the oven. The Honeycomb Coffee Cake is an easy one for the cook, too, because the recipe uses refrigerated biscuits that only takes a second to open, prepare and pop into a preheated oven.

If you have a family with members fussy about eggs, most people do an electric egg cooker can solve many of the problems about how hard or soft they must be. Eggs come out right every time.

This coffee cake is a rich date and nut mixture in between two golden layers of honey-buttered biscuits. Truly divine eating and with a tantalizing aroma that will bring even Johnny or Joanne, comelately bouncing out of bed on the double.

Honeycomb Coffee Cake
1/2 cup light brown sugar, packed firmly
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup melted butter
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup chopped dates
2 cans refrigerated biscuits
1/2 cup honey
Preheat oven to 350 degrees

Combine brown sugar, flour, cinnamon one-fourth cup melted butter, walnuts and dates. Place 10 biscuits in an ungreased two quart baking dish. Top with sugar mixture. Place remaining 10 biscuits on sugar mixture. Combine honey and remaining fourth-cup melted butter. Pour over biscuits. Bake 40 to 45 minutes. Leave in baking dish about 10 minutes after cooking then invert on serving plate.

Breakfast in a Glass
1 fully ripe banana
1 egg
1 cup cold milk
Add egg and banana to milk in blender. Cover. Blend until smooth. Serve immediately.

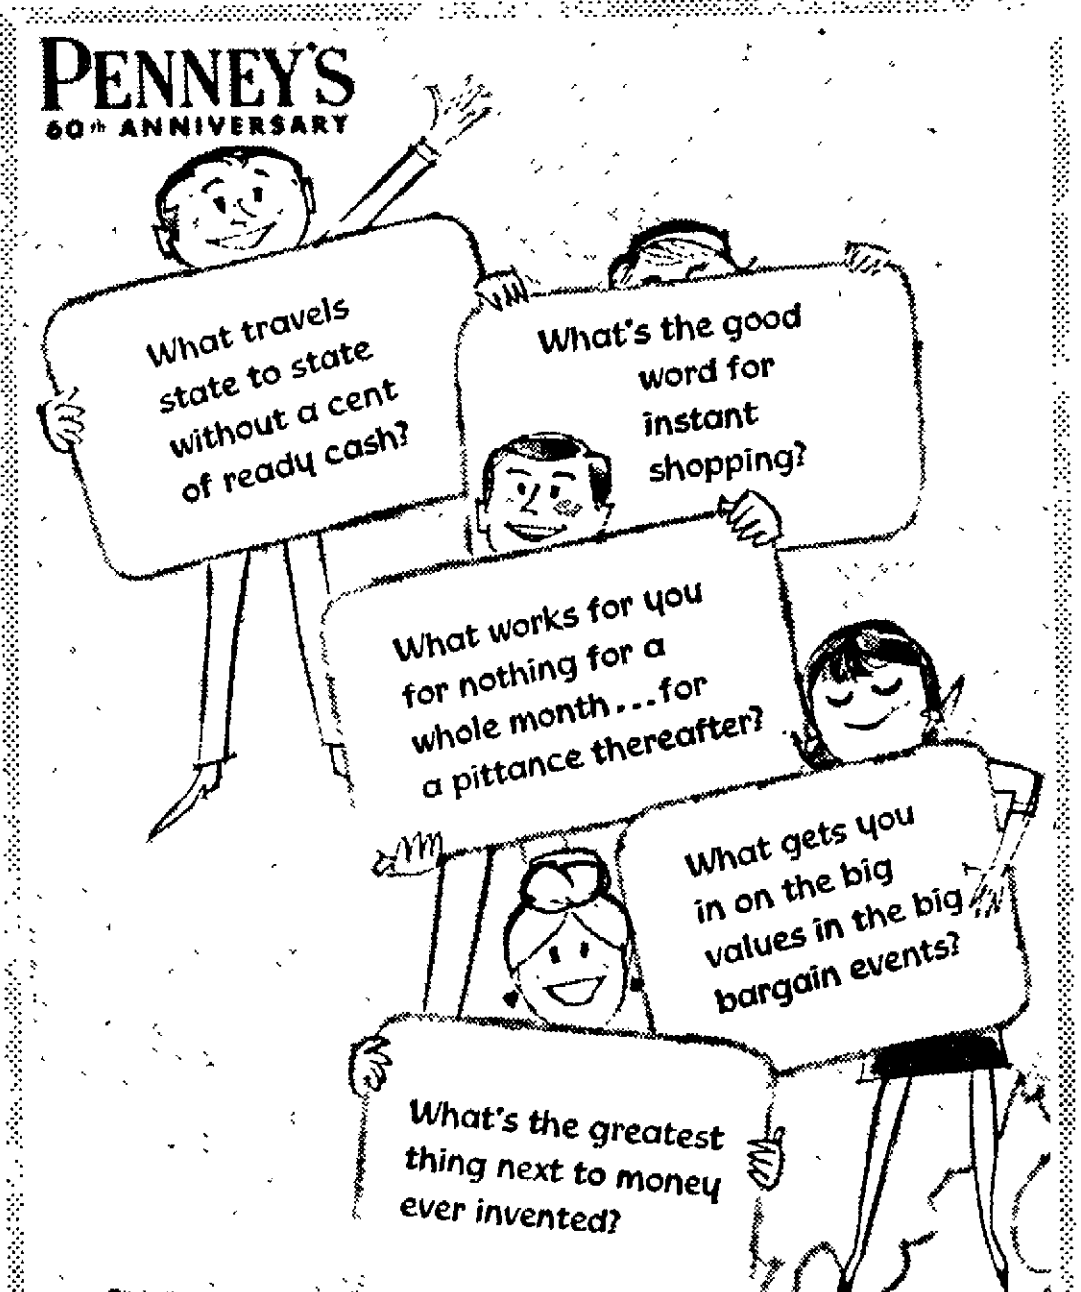

Peach-Topped Biscuits
4 shredded wheat biscuits
1 cup sliced peaches, fresh or frozen
1/3 cup melted butter
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
Split shredded wheat biscuits.

Place in shallow baking dish. Top with sliced peaches. Mix remaining ingredients until smooth. Spoon over peaches and dry cereal. Broil until topping is bubbly. Serve immediately with milk or light cream, if desired. Recipe makes eight servings.

Spirited Flavor

Make up a package of vanilla pudding and pie filling mix and add a teaspoon of rum flavoring. Serve with chocolate whipped cream.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

UNINVITED GUESTS

Dear Louise: After my husband and I retired, we moved into a small house with two bedrooms and a bathroom. My spry 84-year-old aunt by marriage who lives in a nearby state wrote to ask if she and her daughter could visit us for a few days. We decided to pinch more pennies and said yes. They stayed ten days. Unbeknownst to us, my cousin's husband along with his brother and sister-in-law drove here to guests.

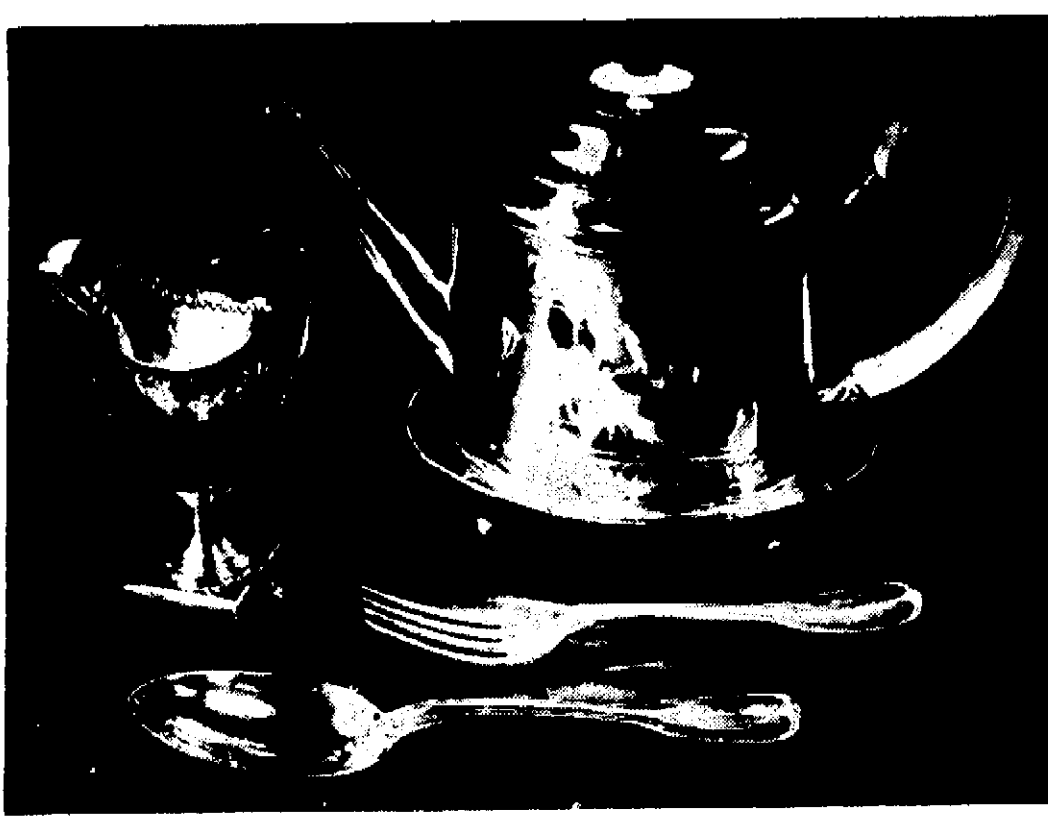

take them back. They brought bed rolls and spent the weekend, but that meant that we had to feed them. I am crippled with arthritis which made matters worse. No one offered to compensate us in any way.

How can I handle such a situation should it happen again?

Mrs. T.N.N. Dubuque, Ia.

Your aunt and cousin shouldn't have taken your hospitality for granted as far as the three extra visitors were concerned. They were all extremely rude and thoughtless and I'm surprised that your aunt and cousin allowed it. The "extras" should have stayed at a motel or hotel and should have been hesitant about having any meals at your home unless they were convinced that they were more than welcome.

Your only "out" for the future would be to tell inquiring relatives and friends about your health and that you regretfully have come to the stage when it is difficult for you have house and sister-in-law drove here to guests.

The Georgian Silver collection, owned by Mrs. Edward C. Jones, Fort Atkinson, will go on display Friday at the State Historical Society of Wisconsin building, Madison. Included in the exhibit are a cream jug by Hester Bateman, 1762, a serving spoon and fork by Paul Storr, 1810, and a teapot by Peter and Ann Bateman, 1797, above.

Historical Society to Display Georgian Silver Collection

MADISON — Georgian silver is the subject of the decorative arts exhibit opening Friday at the State Historical Society of Wisconsin building, 816 State St. The exhibit is the seventh in a series sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the State Historical Society.

Mrs. Edward C. Jones, Fort Atkinson, owner of the collection will officially open the exhibit with a gallery talk at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Society's Sellery Room.

All of the English silversmiths represented in this exhibit are of the late Georgian period, which ran generally from 1765 to 1830. Included are many pieces by Hester Bateman, whose work is now greatly in demand. Others represented are Henry Chawner, George Smith, Matthew Boulton, Peter and Ann Bateman, and Paul Storr.

Shortly after George III came to the English throne in 1760, English silver underwent a radical change which was inspired by the excavations of ancient Greek and Roman objects of art at Herculaneum and Pompeii. The classical influence of these finds was stimulated by architects Robert and James Adam who extended their activities to interiors and were responsible for many silver designs. Thus the silver of this period is classified as neoclassic or Adam style.

The shapes of larger silver objects of this period were obviously copies from the ancient Greek and Roman vessels brought to light during the excavations. The various ornamental forms are also of classic origin.

The members of the Bateman family — Hester, Peter, and Ann — were among the most popular smiths of their time and their work portrays clearly the exacting apprenticeship to which each was subjected. The best known, and head of this family of London silversmiths, was Hester Bateman.

Matthew Boulton was born in Birmingham and throughout his life was associated with his home city. In his younger days he engaged in the manufacture of hardware, turning later to the production of Sheffield plate. After achieving success in this field, he entered the solid silver industry. He was successful in this, as he was in all his enterprises, but it was in the production of Sheffield plate that he achieved prominence.

The most celebrated of the late George III silversmiths was Paul Storr whose works show a great degree of skill. A great artist who developed many artistic innovations, he enjoyed the distinction of royal patronage throughout his career and executed many difficult dinner services to special order.

Included in the exhibit are cream jugs, serving spoons and forks, two-handled cups, caddy spoon, sugar sifter ladle, teapot and stand, sugar tongs, dessert spoons, sugar basket, sauce ladles, asparagus tongs, pair of salts, teaspoons, sauce boat, and wine label.

The decorative series began a little over a year ago when Auxiliary members decided to replace the large annual exhibit they had sponsored in the past with smaller exhibits featuring the fine collections of their members.

Subject of past exhibits have been antique lamps, German dolls of the nineteenth century, nineteenth century woodenware, silhouettes and miniatures, barber bowls, and fine household items to be used in the restoration of Hawks Inn in Delafield.

among horses. Fortunately im- munization is simple. All horses should be immunized against tet- anus. A series of two shots given at 10 day to two week intervals and an annual booster every year or so will keep your horse safe from this disease. The shots are uncomfortable for the horse and may cause painful swelling. I al- ways make sure the horse will not be working before I give shots. It's my practice to give new born colts a shot of tetanus serum soon after birth with regular shots la- ter. (Dr. Miller will send books on pet care to readers submitting best questions. Book for the Cook
Hungarian Cuisine
Plus Gabor Charm

"Jolie Gabor's Family Cookbook," daughters Zsa Zsa, Eva and Mag Crowell, $4.95.
"One must cook with much love and a light heart," says Jolie Gabor, mother of three famous daughters, as her guide, Mrs. Gabor, in collaboration with Ted and Jean Kaufman, has delightfully filled the pages of her new cookbook.

As glamorous as her daughters, Mrs. Gabor proudly describes herself as a gourmet and an efficient cook. She also proclaims that her daughters are "fabulous housewives."

In the introduction to each recipe section, Mrs. Gabor tells a little about her happy Hungarian heritage and reveals the same charm that now is the Gabor trademark. She describes family dinners, elaborate parties, the summer cookouts and the devoted service of the Gabor's cook, "Mama." As filled as the book is with light-hearted and always interesting reminiscences, it still is well-stocked with practical, deserving and delicious Hungarian cuisine.

Best of all, Mrs. Gabor gives recipes for the delicacies her family has enjoyed, such offerings as Chicken-Chestnut Souffle, Paprika Potato Snow, Hussar Steak and dozens more. A great many of the recipes were taken surreptitiously from the grandmother and aunts of Mrs. Gabor's mother, who was a genius at duplicating by taste alone the carefully guarded recipe secrets of her relatives.

The Gabor tables still offer the wonderful specialties of their native Hungary—usually to a roomful of guests. "My daughters and I are all extroverts," author Gabor explains. "We love people and love to entertain."

Although Mrs. Gabor's parties are elaborate, the menu she serves usually features one favorite, Szekely Goulash, which the late Aly Khan once called "the most delicious goulash I have ever tasted."

game in notrump with strength in the unbid suit, particularly if he has some help in hearts.

North would bid the game all by himself with either black ace as additional strength, and North might bid two notrump with an additional king. The actual North hand is good enough to suggest game, but no more.

South can well afford to accept the suggestion since he has a club stopper and additional heart strength. If South wanted to reject the suggestion he would just rebid his diamonds.

Double Stopper
With South playing the hand there is a double stopper in hearts. South lets the opening lead ride around to the queen, after which dummy's king will serve to win a later trick.

South should lead spades immediately to develop the two spade tricks needed for the contract. West must play low, and dummy's king wins. South gets back with the king of diamonds and leads another spade.

Pair Says Promises In Catholic Wedding

LITTLE CHUTE — Miss Patricia Mary Gloudemans became the bride of Gerald Mathew Van Hoof at 9 a.m. today in a ceremony at St. John Catholic Church. The Rev. Martin Vosbeek officiated at the double ring rite which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gloudemans, 308 E. North St., and the son of Clarence Van Hoof, route 4, Appleton.

The bride's sister Mrs. Norman Coenen attended as matron of honor. Mrs. Jerome Gloudemans, the bride's sister-in-law, and Misses Mary Ellen and Jean Van Hoof, Freedom, sisters of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Miss Ann Vanderveer, Kimberly, the bride's niece, was a miniature bride.

Glen Kottz, Freedom, served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Norman Coenen, Jerome Gloudemans, a brother of the bride, and Beinaid Prusik, Shawano. Guests were seated by Vernon Newhouse and Victor Brown, Freedom.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. May-Nor Restaurant was the setting for a noon dinner. A supper will take place at Van Abel Restaurant, Hollandtown. When the couple returns from a

The Ailing House System to Melt Snow In Driveway

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q We want to install a hot water snow-melting system in our driveway. Must the present concrete be torn up first?

A No, another surface cover can be poured over the present concrete in which the heating pipes can be embedded.

Remove Wax

Q I flushed a chair with a penetrating wax stain some time ago. Now we want to use the chair in a bedroom and want it to match the painted pieces in the room. Can I paint right over the stain?

A Just remove any surface wax either with a good wax remover according to label directions or with fine steel wool and turpentine. Be sure the surface is thoroughly clean and dry, and free of any trace of grease, grime, as well as wax, before applying the paint. If the stain is mahogany, apply an undercoat of aluminum paint to prevent bleeding through the finish coat.

Your Problems

Kleptomaniac Needs Help, Watching by Relatives, Friends

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS Mother is in her 70's but very active. She enjoys visiting relatives who live nearby.

I noticed whenever she returned from a trip she brought back articles which did not belong to her, such as hosiery, underwear, bed linen, jewelry and kitchen utensils. She told me these items were gifts. After a while I thought it strange she would receive such an assortment of odds and ends — none of it new.

I finally made some phone calls and learned that mother had taken the articles. Of course I returned them.

Now she complains that some of our relatives whom she used to enjoy visiting do not want her.

any more. They make excuses of course not wishing to tell her the truth.

I'm afraid she may start to steal from stores and then the law would step in. If she is sick, how can I help her? Please advise me. — Sad Daughter

Dear Daughter: Your Mother has an illness called kleptomania. At her age I doubt that a doctor could help. Your best bet is to keep an eye on her whenever she returns from anywhere. Learn where she has been, examine her clothing, parcels, etc. and return what she takes. Also, notify the stores she frequents, advise them of her problem and ask for their cooperation.

DEAR ANN LANDERS My father was a day-laborer. I grew up in the part of town where the working people lived. I was never ashamed of my folks or the neighborhood. The girl who lived next door had a nice hard-working father also. Her parents spoke virtually no English. I remember when this girl started school she had a difficult time. I had to translate for her because she spoke a foreign tongue almost exclusively.

Twenty years have passed and this girl and I have married. Our husbands have done well professionally and we both live on the other side of town.

In the past year our paths have crossed socially. Now, as if suddenly struck by amnesia, she doesn't understand one word of the first language she ever learned.

Will you please explain this to me? — Baffled

Dear Baffled: The girl with the faulty memory has deep feelings of insecurity about her origins. The foreign language reminds her of the poverty and old-country ways of her parents.

These memories make her uncomfortable so she wishes to sweep them all under the rug. The poor thing is to be pitied.

DEAR ANN LANDERS Please settle something in your column once and for all. I am a mother who must depend on sitters when we want to leave the children at night.

Three teenagers in our block are available. Two of these girls want permission to have company. My husband doesn't like the idea but I see nothing wrong with it. After all, when the children are in bed what difference does it make if the sitter has her boy friend over and they watch TV together?

Please deal with this in the column and state your reasons for or against — whichever they may be. — N. T. K.

N. T. K.: I'm against company for sitters and here are the reasons:

The girl who sits is working. It is as much a job as if she were in an office or a store. An employer is entitled to her undivided time and attention.

I do not approve of a teenager entertaining a boy friend in her own home when no adult is present, for obvious reasons. The woman who provides the sitter with a far cozier set-up than she could get at home hands the girl a gilt-edged invitation to trouble.

County College Elimination Wins First OK

OCTC in Kaukauna Would be Affected By Final Approval

MADISON (AP) — Legislation tightening qualifications for Wisconsin teachers by abolishing the state's 22 county teacher colleges and requiring four-year degrees for elementary school teachers has won preliminary approval.

(One of the county colleges is operated by Outagamie County in Kaukauna.)

The proposals were approved Wednesday by the Education Committee of the Legislative Council, as were recommendations that would allow state colleges to establish two-year branches, reorganize the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education and revise the school aid formula by adding $28 million to the state's share of educational costs in the next biennium.

The recommendations will be considered by the full Legislative Council for possible presentation to the 1963 Legislature.

Several committee members questioned whether the teacher shortage might not become more acute as a result of the proposed regulations.

No Crystal Ball

Angus Rothwell, state superintendent of public instruction, said, "We have no crystal ball, but by 1972 we ought to be in a position to take care of our teacher needs."

Under terms of the proposal, the four-year degree requirement would become effective in 1972, and the county teacher colleges would be closed by 1968.

The county teacher college proposal asks that the institutions be adapted to other uses, including state college branches, extension centers or vocational schools.

State college branches envisioned by the committee would follow the pattern established by the University of Wisconsin in

Froehlich Wants Curtailment of State Spending

Curtailment of state spending was pledged by Harold Froehlich, Appleton, Republican candidate for the first assembly seat in Outagamie County.

Froehlich made the pledge to the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education in Appleton.

Froehlich said the state can and must meet its legitimate obligations, but he did not believe that each succeeding budget must automatically increase 20 or 25 per cent.

The GOP candidate claimed that the budget during the past four years had increased 50 per cent while the state's population had climbed only 15 per cent in the past 10 years.

Establishing extension centers. The branches would require approval by the Coordinating Committee.

Total Raised

Addition of the $28 million in school aids raises the total amount proposed for the coming biennium to $232 million, or $84 million more than was budgeted for the purpose in the present two-year span.

Under terms of the Coordinating Committee revision proposal, membership would be reduced from 17 to 15. The university and state colleges would lose two members each and the county colleges one member. Three of the five posts would be filled with members of the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education.

To Your Good Health

Cysts Must Always be Removed Completely

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Doctor: I had what I thought was an ingrown hair on my neck. It would fester every month or so for several years. I got fed up with this and went to my doctor who is reportedly a good surgeon.

He said it was a sebaceous cyst and that it might get serious. I agreed to have him remove it at our general hospital.

He said he had to go very deep to remove all traces. This "cyst" was no more than a pimple. How come? What happened to those good "old" doctors who would do the same in their office? — T. D. D.

The good "old" doctors are with us, and some good new ones, and all of them, when things are liable to get messy or dangerous, would rather work in a hospital with equipment and help at hand, than in an office.

And believe me, you can get in such an awful mess with a sebaceous cyst if it is a deep-seated one.

Could be Serious. You write that it was "no more than a pimple," but your doctor said it might be a cyst, and it her child to be born with a cleft palate? If not, what causes this?

— MRS. B. G. ... No, there's no connection whatever. It's simply a flaw in early development, the parts forming the jaw, lip and palate failing to merge properly.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes hiccupping, and is there any way to cure an infant of them? And what makes a person yawn? — M. H." Hiccupping aren't unusual in a baby. Pick him up, burp him, then give him a little water. It's a spasmodic reaction, usually from some trivial irritation, such as a bit of air in the stomach.

A yawn is just one of a number of modifications of breathing, others being laughing, coughing (incited by Bronchial irritation), sneezing (from nasal irritation), crying, signing, and hyperventilation, this last being overly rapid breathing, usually due to some psychic cause.

All of them, you notice, involve drawing in or expelling the breath, hence a "modified movement of breathing." Causes of a yawn are fatigue, boredom, or sometimes just the thought of yawning — seeing somebody else yawn. (Copyright 1962)

Laird Speaks At Testimonial

Says He'll Keep Fighting 'Rubber Stamp Congress'

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republican Rep. Melvin Laird said Wednesday night that the elections next month will give voters a chance to decide "whether the next Congress should be a rubber stamp Congress or a strong, constructive and independent group making decisions after careful study."

The veteran 7th District representative told a dinner in his honor at Shawano that he has voted against administration programs more than 30 per cent of the time during the past decade.

"When President Eisenhower was in office," Laird said, "I supported his legislative requests 68 per cent of the time...I have supported President Kennedy's requests 63 per cent of the time." Laird said he opposed administration programs when their views "did not coincide with yours and mine, and when I felt their policies were impractical or too costly."

Problems Go On

Philip Kuehn, the Republican candidate for governor, said at a dinner in the city clerk's office today outlining procedures.

Preliminary plans will be presented to the board of education in late January or early February, 1963.

Final plans are to be submitted to the common council in March, 1963.

Bids on the proposed building will be opened the latter part of April or in early May.

"The schedule is purely tentative but indicates the best time schedule that we are able to submit at this time," Kurtz said.

take it from the kids — "We all like Mrs. Grass Soup BETTER..."

YOU KNOW how persnickety kids are about foods. That's why we conducted a test. No computer stuff — just a real taste test. Before each of 1,000 kids, we set two bowls of noodle soup...Mrs. Grass and another famous brand. 3 out of 4 finished the Mrs. Grass Chicken-y Rich Soup to the last tender noodle. Number 4 probably hated soup, anyway.

THE "ALL-AMERICAN" KID GOES FOR MRS. GRASS SOUP BECAUSE:

- It tastes home-made—real American style, with pleasuring seasoning.
- It has more flavor—chicken-y rich, because it has the exclusive Golden Nugget, with its sealed-in chicken-y flavor.
- It has more noodles—Mrs. Grass gives you up to 50% more rich egg noodles than any other mix.

AND (the kids don't care, but YOU will) it makes more soup. Package for package, Mrs. Grass gives you 25% more soup than any other mix.

Heavy Study Load, Work Don't Mix for any Student

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

A fellow named Bill called me on the phone recently. He was home from college and in trouble with his schoolwork. He didn't have time to come by and see me. This is what Bill is trying to do in school:

He takes a course in organic chemistry at one college, a course in music appreciation at another and puts in a six-hour day on an outside job.

Bill's two courses total six semester units to be completed in a six-week period. Educators consider this a full time job, even without the outside job.

78-Hour Week

Bill studies about two hours for each classroom hour which means his schooling involves a 48-hour week. Add to this a 30-hour week of work and he has a 78-hour week.

To make matters worse, organic chemistry is one of the most difficult subjects to understand. It involves the study of many complex compounds, chemical reactions and a whole new vocabulary.

No wonder Bill is in trouble!

But Bill and his parents are not solely to blame for this situation. Our high schools and colleges are at least partly at fault.

High schools encourage students to carry five solid subjects. Four solids is a full time load for the average student. Some students are expected to have a part time job or go out for athletics.

Is it any wonder that when these young people reach college they expect to carry college work as a sideline?

Many college students expect to shoulder a full load of college work, strike for a fraternity or a sorority, go out for the football team and work a 20-hour week.

Divided Interest

If a student is to work 20 hours a week—a half-time job—then he should be expected to carry only half a college load. And even this is difficult because it means he is dividing his interest between work and school.

Parents and students should start the new school year by establishing a reasonable schedule which allows time for a student to go about acquiring an education.

He should not even attempt a schedule under which he is fortunate to be able to complete the minimum assignments for each course. He should attend school to acquire knowledge, not to accumulate units.

Education will not be improved by teaching less about more subjects but by learning more about each subject.

Let's not set aside time for schooling—and then establish a schedule which leaves little room for education!

Town of Brillion

Studies Plan Of Annexation

FOREST JUNCTION—Notice of intent to circulate a petition to annex a part of the Town of Brillion to the City of Brillion was studied by the Brillion town board of supervisors at its October meeting.

The area involved is the present Elroy Wolf farm of approximately 36 acres and another tract of approximately 27 acres. Both are adjacent to the city's west limits.

A pending referendum in the November election on adopting the Calumet County zoning ordinance, the town and on a reassessment of property will be discussed at a special meeting of town electors in the town hall at 8 p.m. Oct. 25.

The board also voted to change the time of closing polls in the November election to 6 p.m. The several times, and Tipuk seems to have previously 5:30 p.m.

What's New in Zoo?

Walrus Not Blubbering Over Broken Romance

Officials at the Coney Island Aquarium in New York are upset over the recent death of Ookie, a walrus miss who had been betrothed to Olaf, a walrus mister. But Olaf is not one to blubber over a broken romance.

Like many a human swain, if he's not with the girl he loves, he loves the girl he's with.

The 2,000-pound Olaf has now taken a shine to Tipuk, a dainty young lass who tips the scales at a mere 650.

Dr. Carleton Ray, associate aquarium director, said the gate separating Olaf and Tipuk in the large walrus tank has been opened November election to 6 p.m. The several times, and Tipuk seems to have previously 5:30 p.m.

Not only that, but it now comes out that Olaf—the boulder-like Tipuk better all along and was just keeping up appearances with the late Ookie.

Aquarium officials, facing up to the facts of life, plan to mate the walruses. The species has never been bred in captivity—but the officials hope love will win out.

New Hippo

New York's Bronx Zoo has a bouncing new baby hippo, a pink-eared infant weighing perhaps 125 or 150 pounds and with an appetite like a baby hippo's.

More details—including the baby's sex—were not immediately available because of the new arrival's extreme shyness and its mother's extremely protective nature.

The baby — tentatively called Jock — was born last week to Phoebe and Peter the Great II. It has been spending most of its time under water, surfacing only long enough to take a lungful of air. Jock won't be sturdy and steady enough for close inspection for another 10 days.

Won't Budge

Three camels at the Philadelphia Zoo won't walk a mile—or even a few feet—for a spanking new $18,000 camel house and yard. The zoo's dromedary, a one-humper named Fatima, and two bactrians, two-humpers named Abe and Olga, like it right where they are. Offered the new quarters without even a single mortgage payment, they refused to budge.

For six hours, zoo officials pushed, tugged, coaxed and prod-ded to no avail. Finally, they

Caroline's Pony Not Injured in Accident

GUILFORD, Conn. (AP)—Caroline Kennedy's pony, Macaroni, and another Kennedy horse, Sagebrush, escaped injury in a mishap Tuesday night on the Connecticut Turnpike.

The two horses were being taken from Newport, R.I., to Washington in a truck-drawn trailer when the trailer hitch broke. The safety chains held and the driver of the truck was able to pull off the highway with the trailer attached.

managed to lure Fatima in. The others remained adamant. Camels, said a zoo spokesman, have minds of their own. They go only where they want to go and when. Officials are hopeful Abe and Olga may change their minds.

Planners Must Heed Political Problems: Green Bay Official

Suggests Comprehensive Plan For Specific Areas of Appleton

Professional planners must be advised. We can become too bogged down in administrative duties to do the type of work we should be doing, he said.

Bergman's talk was one of a series by professional planners for the Project 70 committee today.

An ivory tower plan is useless. If it cannot be implemented, Bergman said. A planner should not give up the basic concepts of planning, he said, but he must recognize the important political problems involved.

Bergman recommended a comprehensive city plan for Appleton, followed by a comprehensive plan for specific areas of the city. The area is fortunate in having a comprehensive regional plan under preparation, he said, and the three types of plans would make it possible to assure that each area will be compatible with the others.

All too often a city will have zoning and subdivision ordinances before it has a comprehensive plan, he said, while these ordinances are just tools to implement a plan.

Bergman described the planning done for an area newly annexed to Green Bay in the Town of Hobart. This general approach will apply to any planning problem he said.

Started With Draining

The planning started with an extensive inventory of existing land use, drainage and topography of the 3,500-acre area, which is primarily rural. On the basis of this inventory, the area was zoned for low density residential development, normal density residential development, a restricted industrial park and a neighborhood commercial zone.

The planning staff then determined the ultimate population density in each area and the resulting traffic demands, and planned the pattern of highways, major and minor local streets.

An area development plan such as this is the only way we can assure adequate and unified development, Bergman said. By this system, we can control future growth, he said.

Have Good Data

A pertinent point for the Project 70 committee, he said, is that before any plans are made, you must have good basic data. Without the proper foundation, you don't know whether plans will be compatible with future development, he declared.

Green Bay merchants financed a comprehensive plan for the central business district, Bergman said. This plan and its substantiating data helped locate a new parking ramp now under construction and the companion development of enlarging the one-way street system.

A comprehensive plan does not dictate specifics, but provides generalities and substantiating data for specific planning, he said.

It is very essential to have good cooperation between the inspection, engineering and planning departments, Bergman noted, but they should definitely be separate departments.

Bag Down Commission

Don't let a local planning commission become bogged down with the many important but non-planning problems of the city, he advised. We can become too bogged down in administrative duties to do the type of work we should be doing, he said.

Kimberly-Clark Backs Plan For New Outagamie Port

Officer Questions Safety, Expansion Possibilities of Winnebago County Facility

The giant and influential Kimberly-Clark Corporation today officially questioned safety factors at the Winnebago County Airport and the port's ability to expand and stepped solidly behind plans to construct a new Outagamie County Airport.

Roger A. Baird, K-C secretary, was one of the key witnesses to appear at this morning's session of the Wisconsin aeronautics commission public hearing delving into the need for a new Outagamie County port.

Kimberly-Clark questions, Baird testified, the ability of the Winnebago County Airport to expand. He said the company also was concerned about the safety factor at the port, inasmuch as the runways are aimed at densely populated areas.

The paper firm executive said "Kimberly-Clark strongly favors a new airport. We believe it has a potential far greater than the existing airport at Oshkosh."

Three Aircraft

Baird said his company accounts for an estimated 1,300 trips of the monthly passenger traffic load at the Fox River Valley. He said his company has three aircraft currently based at the Winnebago County field and that the firm feels the present Outagamie County port is "too marginal to risk our aircraft in there."

Under cross-examination by Winnebago Dist. Atty. Jack Steinbiller, Baird admitted that Kimberly-Clark aircraft had never been involved in "anything serious" in the way of mishaps due to the location or size of the Winnebago site.

"We're interested in service, of course," Baird said, "but safety has been and always will be a significant factor in our selection of airport service."

He said if the new airport in Outagamie county were constructed Kimberly-Clark would favor "shifting our traffic to the new port." He said when instrument landing systems were installed at the new port "we would favor

Appleton Man WMEC Speaker

LaVahn Maesch Will Address 2 Sessions At Music Conference

LaVahn Maesch, director of the conservatory, Lawrence College, has been named one of six featured speakers for a forthcoming meeting of the Wisconsin Music Educators' Conference.

Maesch will address two sessions of the conference at its first annual gathering, to be held at Wisconsin State College, Eau Claire, Oct. 19 through 21.

On Saturday, Oct. 20, his topic "Music in the Soviet Union" will be featured at a 4 p. m. session, and at 9 a. m. Sunday, Oct. 21, Maesch will lecture on "Our Contemporary Music in the Church Service."

The Lawrence educator will have his first talk on a 1961 study trip through the Soviet Union, arranged as part of a research leave granted by Lawrence College. He is particularly well qualified for the second topic, having served as organist-choirmaster of Appleton's First Congregational Church for the past 25 years. Maesch has also done a good deal of composing, especially in the sacred choral medium, and is conductor of the Lawrence Concert Choir and Lawrence Singers.

Maesch will also address two sessions of the conference at its first annual gathering, to be held at Wisconsin State College, Eau Claire, Oct. 19 through 21.

Students Stage Play On Social Problem

Emotional Adjustment Drama Aids Appleton High Workshop

A group of Appleton High School students brought to life the discussion topic for the teachers' workshop in children with emotional adjustment problems Wednesday, presenting a play entitled "The Ins and the Outs" and then frankly discussing their own reactions to it.

The topic for the second of four sessions in the workshop was "Utilizing Peer Groups in the Adjustment of Children."

Herbert H. Helble, Appleton school chairman and vice president of the WCPT in charge, Way served as chairman for a workshop entitled "Can High School Do It All?" and Dr. Gordon Stone, dean of the school of education problems of high school students. It showed the effect on a student of not being part of the "in" group, then backed up and re-played the final scene to show the results if the group had accepted him.

Lists Staff

The play was directed by Lee Schoeni, Appleton High School speech teacher, assisted by Mrs. Elforda Spiegelberg, school psychologist. The cast included Robert Chase, Richard Dixon, Murry Spector, and Millstein and Kathy Koller.

Miss Annabelle Wolf, A. H. S. dean of girls, leading the general discussion after the play, called the cast back onto the stage to field the questions of the audience.

The young people agreed that cliques are a problem at the High School, although differing on whether formation of the "in" and "out" groups starts in elementary, junior high or senior high school.

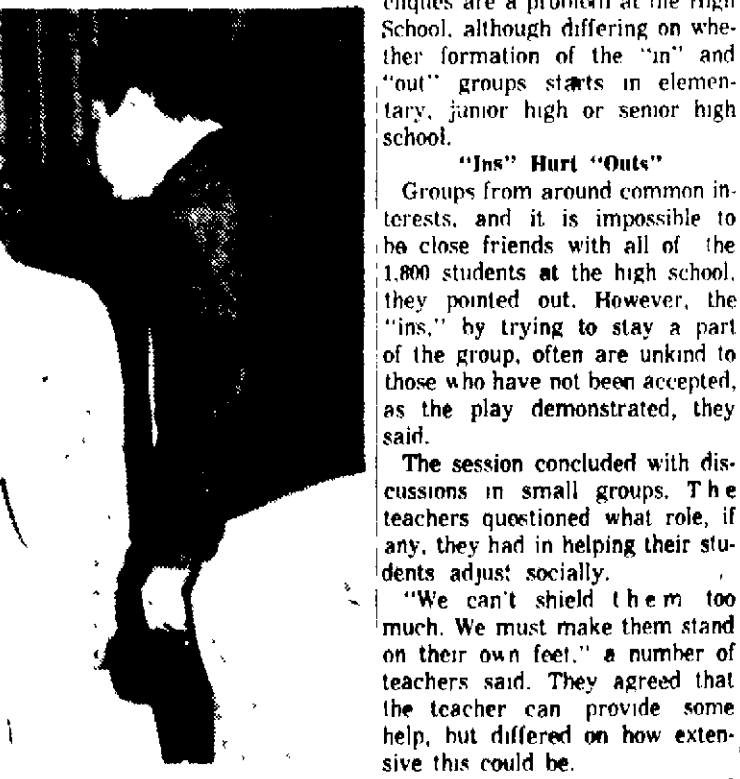

"Ins" Hurt "Outs"

Groups from around common interests, and it is impossible to be close friends with all of the 1,800 students at the high school, they pointed out. However, the "ins," by trying to stay a part of the group, often are unkind to those who have not been accepted, as the play demonstrated, they said.

The session concluded with discussions in small groups. The teachers questioned what role, if any, they had in helping their students adjust socially.

"We can't shield them too much. We must make them stand on their own feet," a number of teachers said. They agreed that the teacher can provide some help, but differed on how extensive this could be.

Performance of "The Ins and the Outs" for PTAs and other organizations has been considered. A double cast has prepared the play, with Paul Given, Charles Morkin, Steve Luethen, Ede Kellogg and Noel Furstenberg in the roles.

Problems Confronting Golden Agers Cited At State Hearing

Housing Shortage for Elderly, Medical Treatment Discussed

Problems of the aging were presented today at the courthouse as the Governor's Commission on the Aging held one of 24 state public hearings. The Appleton hearing concludes this afternoon.

Representatives of public and private groups discussed problems, centering on health, housing and recreation.

Appearing this morning were John Mitchell of the Wisconsin State Employment Service, Mrs. W. B. Thompson of the Appleton Golden Age Club, Joseph Kromer of the Kaukauna Golden Age Club and Marion Freeman, Outagamie County Nurse. Other representatives are scheduled to appear this afternoon.

Mitchell discussed work of the WSES with older people, pointing out that problems of employment did not exist with the over-65 group, but in the 45-65 group.

"It's hard to place a person in this age group, particularly if the person has no skill or education," Mitchell said.

Mrs. Thompson discussed the program conducted by the Appleton Golden Age group. She told of the club's 11-room home for activities.

The group has about 200 members who pay $1 a year dues. Facilities include handicraft rooms, social rooms, kitchen facilities and workshop space.

"One of our main problems now is having to conduct our meetings in Jefferson School since we don't have a big enough room in our clubhouse," she explained.

The club is sponsored by the Appleton Welcome Wagon, Newcomers Club and the City of Appleton recreation department.

Kromer told of the activities of the Kaukauna Golden Age Club. Space is provided in the high school cafeteria for meetings. Artz, chairman, Mrs. Joseph Apple while a room is available in the municipal building for recreation purposes. Funds are provided from the city's recreation budget.

County May Alter Sheriff's Department

Winnebago Seeks Modernization Of Operations

OSHKOSH — Reorganization of the sheriff's department is under discussion by the sheriff and cor- oner's committee which held an executive session on that topic Wednesday night.

Reports were given by Supvs. Warren Miracle, Town of Vinland, and Amos Page, Town of Men- sha, on their visits to other coun- ties to study the operations of their sheriff's departments.

The committee is working on a recommendation to be presented to the County Board at its meet- ing later this month.

Sheriff Richard "Bud" Lowell inquired about the variance in salary increases given the two lieutenants in his department. The committee in its 1963 budget in- creased the salary of the special investigator from $460 to $500, a month and for the office licen- tant from $460 to $470 a month.

Salary Difference

Committee members replied the duties of the two officials were quite different and that was the reason for the salary differ- ence. The sheriff said he felt that since both had the same rating, the salaries should be the same.

The committee also authorized the construction by Leonard Lar- sen of Neenah of 10 equipment boxes to be placed in the squad cars and the purchase of a re- flective vest for each squad car. Accumulation of overtime by county policemen over a period of years was discussed. Some of the policemen, it was learned, had as much as 48 days off owed them for overtime work which had accumulated for as long as 10 years.

Establishing a definite policy on overtime will be discussed with the personnel committee.

Sealer Requests Pay Increase

Sealer of Weights and Measures Roger LaBerge wants a $100 a month salary increase for 1963.

In a letter to the mayor and Board of Public Works, LaBerge says the salary for the type of work he is doing is not sufficient. He wants his pay boosted from $400 to $500 a month.

In support of his pay request, LaBerge cited his many duties and responsibilities as city sealer. "It is conservatively estimated that this supervision will save each taxpayer of this city at least $100 per year," LaBerge said.

LaBerge said he contacted a few city sealers in the sur- rounding area to determine if they were on the same salary basis as the plumbing, electrical and building inspectors. "Green Bay, Oshkosh and Sheboygan have these on the same salary basis as the city sealer," LaBerge said.

He requested the board to re- view his job classification and put it on an equal basis with other inspectors.

Motion to Postpone Airport Hearing 'Under Advisement' sin and of the United States." shifting all of our traffic to the new port."

Favor New Port

Robert DiRenzo, Neenah attorney, appeared for the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce, the Neenah-Menasha Taxpayers' Alliance, and the Neenah-Menasha citizens Airport committee.

Reading from a prepared statement, DiRenzo said the group he represents favor the new port in the absence of an expert survey on the adequacy of the Winnebago port.

Steinhilber questioned DiRenzo about his feelings concerning federal aid for the proposed airport when a CAB regional airport study is not complete. "I don't think public tax money should go into another Bong Field," Steinhilber said. He referred to the giant military airfield which was abandoned in Wisconsin mid-way through construction.

About 100 persons jammed the board room when the hearing got underway, directed by commission examiner Christ Wolf. As many as 50 witnesses on both sides of the question may be heard before the hearing concludes.

Witnesses supporting construction of a new port will be heard first, Wolf ruled. August W. Compton, president of the airport consulting firm of Leigh Fischer, San Francisco, was the first witness.

Brown County corporation counsel Francis Evarard made a motion for postponement. It was supported by Winnebago County. It was taken under advisement and the examiner and the hearing continued.

Evarard listed two reasons in asking for the postponement. The CAB, he said, currently is involved in a study of regional airport construction and such findings as might result from the current hearing would be in the nature of prejudging the CAB study. He also said the proposed airport is not included in the national airport plan and therefore is ineligible for federal aid.

Ponath Presents Case

Outagamie County corporation counsel A. W. Ponath in an opening statement said the county would prove that its present port is inadequate, that reconstruction is not practical, that business and industry want the new port and p.m. and will speak briefly before the convention of Business and Professional Women at the Conway Hotel at 8 p.m.

He will give a short talk before the Fox Valley-Lake Shore Press a new airport will most effectively serve one of the most prosperous progressive areas of Wisconsin.

'Keep Dogs Tied,' Says Appleton Chief of Police

"Keep your dogs tied," Appleton Police Chief Earl O. Wolff has warned residents. He said the department has been plagued with complaints of dogs running loose at all hours of the day and night.

Chief Wolff said some citizens may believe that, now that summer is almost over, they are allowed to free their dogs. City ordinances require that dogs be tied up at all times or be on leashes.

Several dogs have bitten children in the last few days, Chief Wolff said, and must be caught to determine if they are rabies carriers. If the dog is not found after 48 hours, the dog bite victim must begin a series of anti-rabies shots.

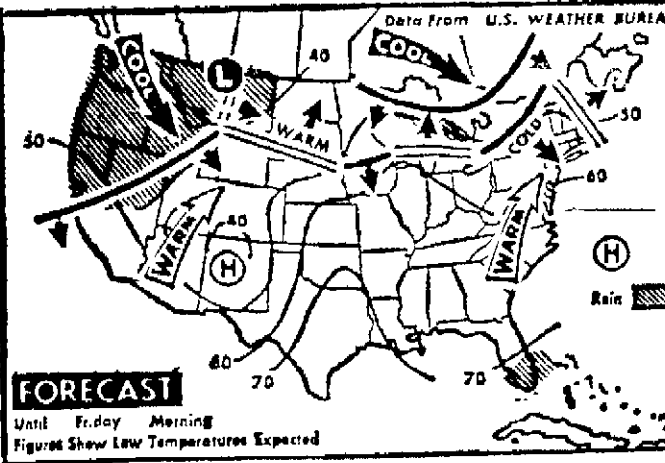

City Hall Parking Lot Ordinance Ready For Consideration

City Atty. Frederick Froehlich has prepared an ordinance to cover the city hall parking lot.

It was presented to the council's welfare and ordinance committee Tuesday night but because of the press of other business no action was taken.

The council recently directed Froehlich to prepare such an ordinance so the city will have police powers over the parking area adjacent city hall. At present there are no regulations governing the lot.

The ordinance prepared by Froehlich would prohibit double parking, which now is a common occurrence. Violators would have their vehicles towed away by police. The towing and storage costs would have to be paid by the car owner. No parking would be permitted in the lot from 2 a.m. to 5 a.m.

Mostly Cloudy Conditions will prevail Thursday night over the extreme northern half of the nation with scattered cloudiness and clear skies elsewhere. Rain and showers are expected over the Pacific states and scattered showers are due in northern Michigan and southern Florida. Cooler temperatures will be associated with the general cloudiness of the northern states. Warmer temperatures are due in the Atlantic states with little change elsewhere. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Acorns, Pins, Brown Yarn, Glue Make Millinery Shop

BY CAPPY DICK

Using acorns, a few pins, a few strands of brown yarn and some glue, you can open an acorn millinery shop. The little hat models will look like those in Figure 2.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

False. It is often very necessary to have the possibility of job offers. A girl who is being dated by a fellow may come to the point where she needs to know whether or not he has marriage in mind. At professional conferences, "friendly visits" often have the possibility of job offers. We must know whether the other person is just being courteous, or whether something important may come of it. Is this stranger merely polite, or is he working up to the point where he will want to sell us something? We must constantly judge others.

Do people every try to fail?

Yes—No—

Yes. Perhaps because success would mean more responsibility and work than they would find comfortable, some people want to fail. They try various means. Sometimes they tackle tasks that are impossible for them. Sometimes they become so disagreeable that nobody can stand them. Sometimes they get "sick" so that they don't have time enough to give to their work. Anyone who really wants to fail can find ways of doing so.

The subject is enlarged upon in the booklet, "How to Be an Emotional Grown-up." To get your copy, send 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to "Let's Explore Your Mind," in care of this newspaper.

Miller Theatre Grant Recalls Popular Adage

Troubled Milwaukee Group Receives
$100,000 Aid From Ford Foundation

BY JINGO

The squeaking wheel gets oiled they say and "they" are usually right. Take the Miller Theatre in Milwaukee for an example. Last year the first contemporary Equity theatre in the state was on the verge of collapse as its director, Ray Boyle, pulled out and an internecine quarrel exploded to the front with the key moving force battling for her way with a suddenly truculent board of governors.

The fight was settled, finally, and a repertory company was booked to start the season with Art — with a capital A.

In the meantime, Ray Boyle moved over to the Antlers Hotel and set up a supper club theater and started prospering.

Jingo But the Miller with all of its trouble—or squeaking to fit the old adage — attracted attention in another quarter. The Ford Foundation heard about the troubles and did something about it.

The announcement has just been made that the Miller will receive $100,000 from the Foundation in its altruistic effort to "strengthen repertory theatre in the United States."

The real proof of the old adage is found in the reason the Foundation helped out the Miller. The announcement says the theatre gets the money "to help strengthen the theatre's administrative effectiveness and artistic continuity."

The corollary to the adage, it appears, is to be sure not to do too good a job.

The 100 grant will assure the theatre two seasons since the Foundation stipulates that it must spend only half of the grant this year and half next.

New Managers In addition to the grant, the Miller has strengthened itself by recruiting Paul Shyre as artistic director and Jack McQuiggan as general manager.

In the meantime, Ray Boyle is piling people into his Swan Theater.

The Miller's grant was part of a $6.1 million distributed to nine theater companies in several regions of the country.

The Foundation will match a quarter million with funds raised elsewhere to help out the Actor's Studio in New York—you know the "method" school.

Actor's Workshop in San Francisco gets $197,000 to encourage its experimental repertoire. More on this community theater later.

Other Grants The Alley Theater, Houston gets $21 million for a building. The American Shakespeare Festival Theater, Stratford, Conn., gets $493,000 for a training program. The Arena Stage, Washington, D.C., gets $836,000 for expansion all along the line.

Mummers Theater, Oklahoma City, gets $1.25 million for a get it.

Matinee Set For Operetta Next Tuesday

A special 4 p.m. students' matinee has been scheduled for the movie version of the operetta, "The Student Prince," at Appleton Theater Tuesday.

The film is the third in a series of operettas being shown by the theater. The night performance will start at the usual time of 8:15 p.m.

Stanley Gross, Appleton Theater manager, said that widespread interest in "The Student Prince," is behind the extra performance. The matinee will be open to all theatergoers, he said, but it is being scheduled primarily for students.

The Sigmund Romberg favorite over the years stars Edmund Purdom and Ann Blyth and features the singing voice of Mario Lanza. Other featured actors in the cast include Louis Calhern, Edmund Gwenn and John Ericson.

building plus. Theater Group, University of California Extension, Los Angeles, gets $500,000 for five-year support. Tyrone Guthrie Theater, Minneapolis, gets $337,000 for operating expenses until it opens next spring.

This is a hasty rundown. The subject deserves deeper reporting all along the line.

Edmund Purdom Plays the handsome young prince and Ann Blyth the pretty barmaid in the perennially popular operetta, "The Student Prince." The movie version of this romantic musical tale by Sigmund Romberg is coming Tuesday only to the Appleton Theater for both a 4 p.m. matinee and an 8:15 p.m. show. The voice of the late Mario Lanza is featured in the singing role of the prince. Famous Romberg songs in the film include the rousing "Drink, Drink, Drink," the melodic "Deep in My Heart, Dear," "Golden Days" and "Serenade" and the spritely "Come Boys, Let's All Be Gay, Boys."

ABC Launches PT Boatful Of Laughs

BY TV SCOUT

8:30-9 (Channel 11) — McHale's Navy, a new show, is set in the South Pacific during World War II but don't expect an action drama. This is strictly for laughs and pretty ridiculous. Ernest Borgnine plays McHale who runs his PT boat as though he were a seaborne Ernie Bilko. And his men are right out of Bilko's platoon, only more so (Billy Sands, who was with Phil Silvers, plays one of Borgnine's sailors).

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Wide Country's rodeo setting is only incidental to its story this week. This is somewhat the same kind of plot used on series with far different backgrounds. Earl Holliman plays host to his old Korean War Army squad. It is at first a gay reunion, but there's always one in every crowd and, in this case, it is Ed Nelson who tries to stir up old hatreds.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Dr. Kildare mixed medicine and politics this week, and the story suffers from being pulled in two directions. Richard Chamberlain's patient is John Cassavetes, a left-leaning son of a middle-of-the-road Asian potentate. He is in need of brain surgery, and insists on the operation being performed by Theodore Bikel, a Russian-trained surgeon.

8-8:30 — (Channel 11) — My Three Sons continues to milk the puppy love affairs of its youngsters. If you enjoy seeing teenagers in the first intoxicating bloom of romance, you'll like this one. It's Mike's turn and he finagles his way into a tough spot — he has dates with two girls for the big dance.

8-9 (Channel 2) — Good acting by Colleen Dewhurst helps The Nurses cure a potentially fatal script. She plays a nurse with

Slow Trading Marks Stocks

Industrials Held Steady, Rails Up, Utilities Off

NEW YORK (AP)—Slow trading and narrow price movements marked an irregular stock market early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 80 stocks at noon was unchanged at 218.9 with industrials unchanged, rails up .1, and utilities off .2.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional. Even among the usually volatile "growth" issues there were only a few movements of a point or so.

Motors, chemicals, and railroads nudged ahead on balance. Steels, utilities, electrical equipments, and aerospace issues tended to the downside.

Amerasia slipped more than a point and IBM made a similar advance.

Xerox and Korvette dipped fractionally and Polaroid was up a fraction.
